State Department Reports Peace Feelers Put Out By Hanoi, U.S.

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The United States and North Viet Nam are conferring, through a third party, on a very tentative possibility of starting formal peace talks, the State Department disclosed Friday.

Meanwhile, British Prime Minister Harold Wilson pledged new efforts to seek a Vietnamese peace settlement. And President Johnson, combined a Christmas plea for "honorable peace" with a warning that it cannot be achieved by yielding to aggression.

A State Department spokesman revealed that a secret exchange of messages had been conducted through Italian Foreign Minister Amintore Fanfani and other Italians.

He said, however, the exchange so far was inconclusive and that it was up to the Hanoi regime to make the next move.

SECRET EXCHANGE

The secret exchange was made public, the State Department said, after word leaked out that made it appear that the United States had rejected a new Hanoi peace bid. "The United States rejected no proposal," the spokesman said.

According to Fanfani's report, North Vietnamese President Ho Chi Minh said, "I am prepared to go anywhere to meet anyone."

The Italian go-betweens reported that Ho laid down two sets of requirements for peace talks.

—A cease fire "by air, by sea, by land" in North and South Viet Nam, cessation of "all belligerent operations," including the "debarkation" of U.S. troops.

—A declaration that the Geneva agreements of 1955 would be the basis for negotiations. But Ho, according to U.S. interpretation, appeared to equate Geneva agreement with Hanoi's famous "four points."

U.S. Ambassador Arthur J. Goldberg also announced the Fanfani development to the U.N. General Assembly in New York.

In his reply, Rusk said the United States does not agree that the "four points" are "an authentic interpretation" of the Geneva agreements.

Rusk said the United States was willing to enter negotiations without any ceasefire. But if there was a ceasefire, he said, it should be "on an equitable and reciprocal basis."

Wilson told Johnson at a luncheon conference that in his capacity as chairman of the Geneva Conference dealing specifically with the Vietnamese problem, he would make a renewed effort to seek peace in Southeast Asia.

Johnson, speaking at White House Christmas tree lighting ceremonies and accompanied by Wilson, said there was nothing to be gained by further delay in negotiations for peace.

"I have told (Wilson) that any new way he can find to peace will have a ready response from us," said Johnson.

White House Secretary Bill D. Moyers said the U.S. government was waiting further clarification from Hanoi. "We have had no indication that the other side is willing to conduct unconditional discussions," said Moyers.

Hotel Here Chosen For Office Site

The Virginia Hotel here will be converted into a Louisiana office building which will ultimately house 300 state employees.

The Louisiana Office Building Corporation voted Friday — with one abstention — to purchase the building for $155,000, after hearing three site proposals by Twin City representatives. There were no negative votes.

ARRANGEMENTS

"We will start moving in as soon as we can," said corporation manager Sidney Fazio, who will complete arrangements here with representatives of Alfred Glassell of Shreveport.

He will meet with commercial tenants in the building on St. John Street, examine the title and complete the sale. The building will be remodelled as state offices are moved in.

Monroe Mayor W. L. Howard said in a statement following the vote on the office building that the purchase will "mean a great deal to the redevelopment of downtown Monroe."

His statement said:

"We're pleased and happy to learn that the state has selected Monroe as the site for its new state office building. The site they selected, in my opinion, is a real bargain, and should mean a great deal to the redevelopment of downtown Monroe.

"I hope this will be an incentive to the downtown property owners to continue their all-out support on the long - range master plan for the redevelopment of downtown."

Fazio said state personnel should be moving in by late January or early February.

Corporation president is Wade O. Martin. Only Sen. Jamar Adcock of Monroe abstained from the vote, reportedly because of his "close connection with the Monroe area" and the fact that he "represents persons on both sides of the river."

"The state saved from $600,000 to $700,000 today," Fazio said. "It would have cost a minimum of $1.2 million to have built a suitable building."

He predicted it would require a maximum investment of $400,000 to remodel the hotel. Fazio will consult with an architect on his visit to obtain closer estimates of renovation costs.

Monroe businessman R. D. Kellogg made the presentation in Baton Rouge Friday morning for the Glassell interests. Option on the purchase of the building is reported effective until the first of the year.

Fazio said the state will request an extension of the option until Feb. 1, to complete the sale.

Only three site areas were mentioned at the meeting.

City Planning Director George Parsons described prospects for locating in the area of Monroe's government center, under construction just north of I-20.

A West Monroe delegation, chaired by Hobson Norris, suggested a location near the west end of the U. S. Hwy. 80 traffic bridge, on a state-owned parcel between Stella and Mill Streets.

Kellogg offered the hotel.

With the West Monroe chairman was Mayor J. Allan Norris, Chamber of Commerce President Ralph Reed, Chamber Manager Eugene Smith, City Atty. Charles Traylor, Mrs. Ada Gruber, State Parks & Recreation Committee board member, and local realtor Frank Seymour.

Gemini 7 Return Is Set Today

MANNED SPACE CENTER, Houston, Tex. (AP) — The Gemini 7 space champions boned up on tricky maneuvers vital to a safe return to earth, then settled down for a long night's rest before a fiery homecoming today from man's longest space voyage.

Confident their tiny spacecraft's pesky electrical system will not fail, Air Force Lt. Col. Frank Borman and Navy Cmdr. James A. Lovell Jr. streaked into the 14th day of their endurance flight with a big "go" from the world-wide tracking network.

5 MILLION MILES

With 5 million miles of space travel behind them, the two astronauts came down the home stretch feeling good and jovial.

"We're all quite impressed with how good you guys sound today," Mission Control advised them.

"We feel a lot better," Borman answered.

Dr. Charles Berry, the flight's medical director, said that from medical data relayed from the spacecraft to ground Borman and Lovell seemed in good health.

And Berry said he felt that even though neither man has taken a step since climbing into the small craft Dec. 4, they would be able to walk once on the deck of the recovery ship.

(Related Material, Page 8-A)

"I am confident that's the way its going to be," he told a news conference. "I don't think we're going to see anything but some bearded, sorta cruddy guys for a while."

Borman, the command pilot, is to fire his retrorockets at 7:28 a.m. CST as the spacecraft heads over the Pacific on the 206th trip around the world. Earth's gravity will then grip the speeding craft for its splashdown 37 minutes later.

Gemini 7 entered its 201st orbit at 11:16 EST.

The pilots spent much of the day tidying up the craft, stowing equipment and other things used for the past two weeks. Ground controllers ran data through computers to come up with times and places for the various re-entry maneuvers, then relayed them up to the space twins.

Borman and Lovell took the day off at midafternoon and plan to be up and ready early for the end of their voyage.

"See you in the morning," Borman said before signing off for the day.

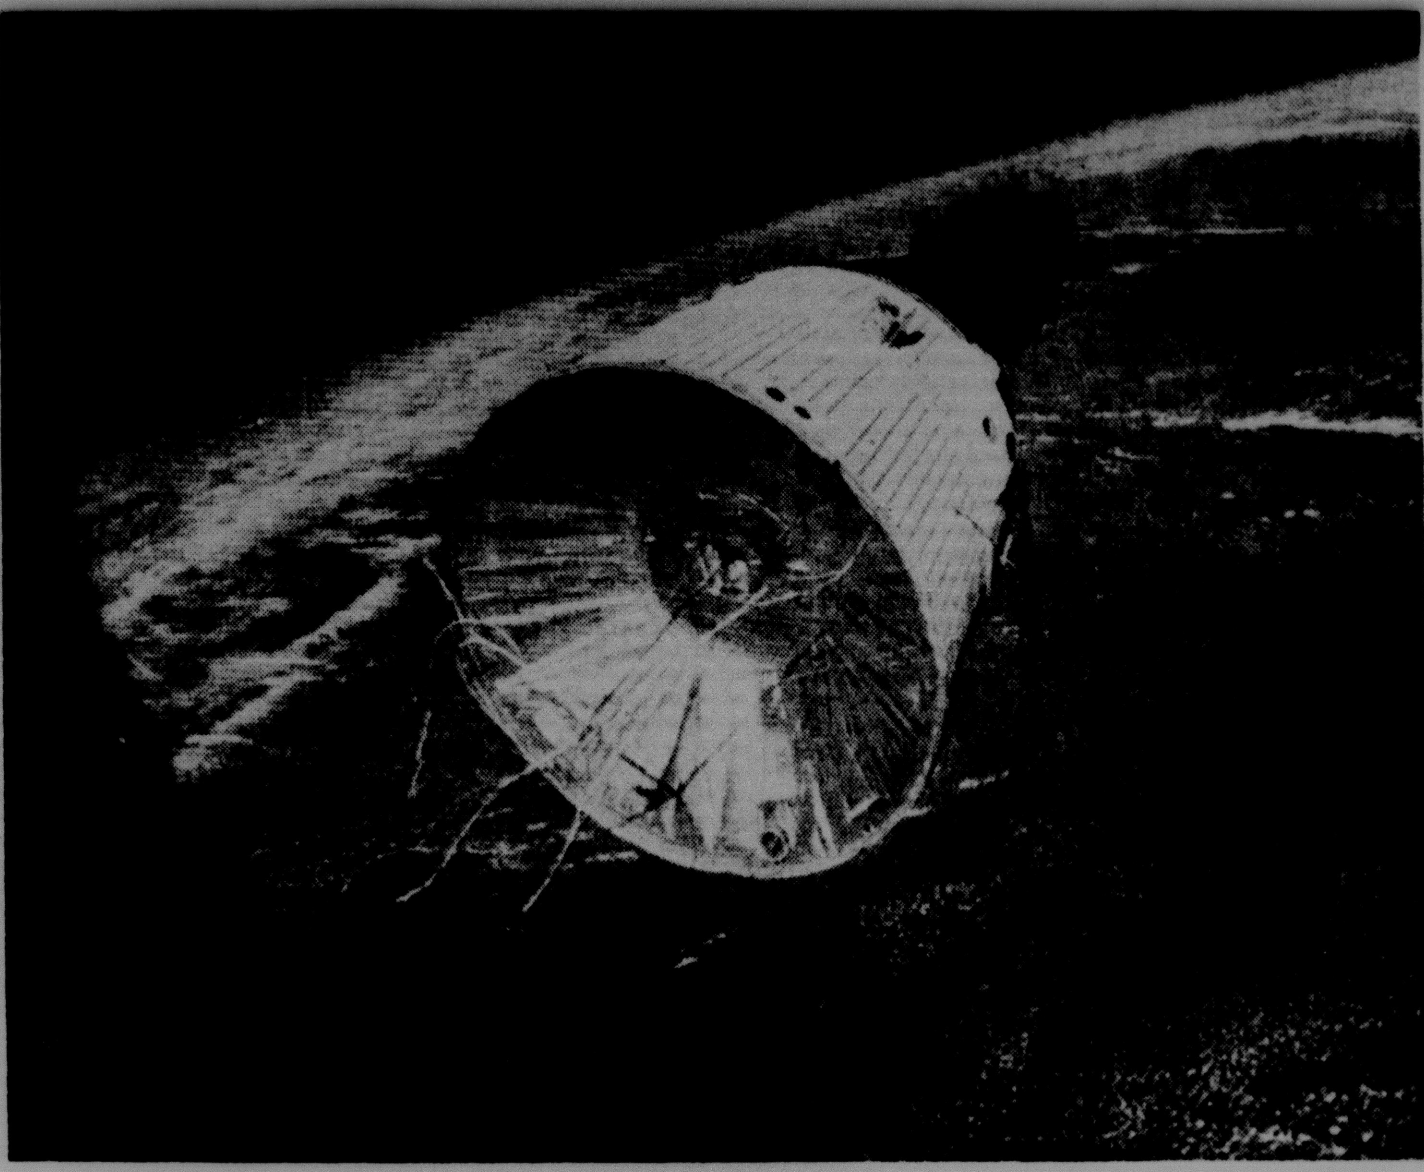
How the record-breaking astronauts look, feel and act after man's longest exposure to the strange world of space can provide the answer to a critical question: Can man live and work over great periods of time in the weightless environment?

Earthlings got their first filmed glimpse Friday of Wednesday's historic rendezvous between the Gemini 6 and 7 spacecraft 185 miles above earth. And Borman and Lovell were pleased.

The National Aeronautics and Space Administration space agency released some of the movies and still pictures taken of the dramatic meeting by Gemini 6 pilots Navy Capt. Walter M. Schirra Jr. and Air Force Maj. Thomas P. Stafford.

"We have just seen the pictures — some of the pictures — which GT-6 brought back," spacecraft communicator Elliott M. See Jr., an astronaut, told Borman. "Just a few of them have been processed so far, but they are really outstanding. You just look great sitting up there."

The color movies depict the apparent ease with which the two ships flew gracefully through space six to 10 feet from each other at 17,500 miles an hour.



THE GEMINI 7 spacecraft floats past Gemini 6 during the rendezvous and station keeping maneuvers 160 miles above the earth Wednesday. This picture was taken from 16 mm. movie film shot by astronaut Wally Schirra aboard the Gemini 6 and was released by the Manned Spacecraft Center in Houston, Tex., Friday. Britain Puts Oil Embargo On Rhodesia

LONDON (AP) — By order of Queen Elizabeth II, Britain banned all oil shipments to rebel Rhodesia Friday and the United States government immediately advised Americans to comply with the embargo.

A State Department official in Washington said the U.S. position was this:

"The U.S. government welcomes and supports the British decision to prohibit oil imports into Rhodesia.

"We fully recognize the authority of Her Majesty's Government in this matter and therefore are advising all U.S. citizens and enterprises to comply."

The United States also announced it would help the British with an airlift of oil to meet the needs of Zambia, a landlocked neighbor of Rhodesia.

Britain decided on the oil embargo after long deliberation and consultations with other powers.

It was the harshest measure yet taken by the British against the white supremacist regime that seized power in Rhodesia on Nov. 11. But many African nations have already said that would not be enough and some have broken diplomatic relations with Britain for not using tougher means.

Stiff fines and prison sentences were set up for any Briton supplying or helping to provide oil supplies to the secessionist colony.

Ike Leaves For His Home Today

WASHINGTON (AP) — Former President Dwight D. Eisenhower will leave for his Gettysburg home today from Walter Reed General Hospital, where he has been recovering from a heart attack.

Eisenhower was stricken Nov. 9 while at his vacation home in Augusta, Ga., and entered Walter Reed Nov. 23 after treatment at Ft. Gordon, Ga.

The 75-year-old five-star general has apparently made a good recovery from the attack, but hospital officials, in announcing his departure, gave no report on his condition.

Doctors at the hospital stopped putting out medical bulletins on his condition several weeks ago after reporting he was making normal progress.

His departure is scheduled for sometime after 10 a.m. Mrs. Eisenhower will accompany him to Gettysburg by car.

Occasional Rain Moves Into Area

Cloudy skies are forecast with no important temperature changes for the Twin Cities area through Sunday.

Occasional rain should begin late today and continue through Sunday, according to the U.S. Weather Bureau. Only a trace of rainfall was recorded again Friday by FAA at Selman Field.

High temperatures today should range from 52 to 56. Tonight's lows should be between 40 and 46.

High and low temperatures recorded Friday at Selman Field were 55 at 2:30 p.m. and 47 between midnight and 8 a.m.

Winds should prevail from the east today at 8 to 15 miles an hour.

$371 Million Cost Of Betsy

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — A $371 million price tag was placed on Louisiana damage from Hurricane Betsy in a 50-page report released Friday by the New Orleans District of the Corps of Engineers.

The Engineers said $167,960,000 damage was from tidal overflow, $49,700,000 from wind damage and $154,300,000 from a combination of wind and water damage.

The report traced the September storm through the Gulf and its destructive swath through Louisiana.

Troops Drop Road Blocks In Dominican

SANTO DOMINGO, Dominican Republic (AP) — Dominican troops and police smashed attempts Friday by Communist-led youths to block east-west traffic in Santo Domingo.

Soldiers and policemen swept away crude barricades set up by 200 rioters along several streets leading to Duarte Bridge.

Before the troops moved in two cars belonging to the U.S. aid mission were stopped and burned. The occupants were not injured.

AMERICAN INJURED

A U.S. military spokesman revealed that three American paratroopers were injured Thursday when bands of youths rampaging through the city stoned army convoys crossing Duarte Bridge. He said one paratrooper was hospitalized with a broken jaw.

The spokesman also said that a few shots were fired at a U.S. military command post in the heart of the city during the night but the Americans did not return the fire.

The provisional government of President Hector Garcia-Godoy announced settlement of the four-day strike in the state-owned sugar industry that led to the rioting.

U.S. Programs Series Of B52 Hits In Laos

SAIGON (UPI) —The United States has programmed a series of secret B-52 bomber strikes against improved Communist infiltration facilities in neighboring and nominally neutral Laos, it was learned early today.

The United States will not officially announce the B-52 bombing raids against Laotian targets, as it has in the case of past strikes by smaller, tactical aircraft. The U.S. Defense Department has, however, officially announced the loss of planes shot down over the neighboring kingdom.

Under the terms of an agreement between the United States and Laotian Neutralist Premier Souvanna Phouma, American Air Force and Navy planes have been hitting Communist position in the southern Laotian panhandle since early this year.

The first B-52 strikes were conducted more than a week ago against such targets as recently-constructed all-weather supply routes, and way stations for Communist North Vietnamese military units infiltrating through Laos to aid the Viet Cong rebels in the south.

The decision to use the giant bombers was prompted by the Communists' stepped up use of the Laotian corridor for infiltration of men and arms into the south.

Sources had said earlier the North Vietnamese have improved the infiltration network to a point where as many as 4,500 men and 2,500 tons of supplies could be rushed to the south each month.

American military officials became especially concerned when they noted the Communist North Vietnamese had moved heavy road-building and earth-moving equipment into areas of Laos bordering Viet Nam's Kontum and Quang Nam provinces where all-weather roads were being constructed by the Communists.

De Gaulle To Help Settle Asian War

PARIS (UPI) —President Charles De Gaulle said Friday that if he is re-elected Sunday he will try to help settle the war in Viet Nam, "which threatens to lead to the worst consequences."

He warned that if he is beaten by his leftist-backed challenger, Francois Mitterand, France will slump back "automatically into the frightful confusion of the past."

De Gaulle and Mitterrand wound up their election campaigns with final radio-television appeals to France's nearly 29 million voters.

Mitterrand offered voters a choice between "personal power and a citizens' republic." He accused De Gaulle of acting like "a citizen over and above the law."

Frenchmen vote Sunday in a runoff election to choose between De Gaulle and Mitterrand. De Gaulle was favored to win another seven-year term with between 53 and 55 per Cent of the vote. The runoff was made necessary when De Gaulle failed to win a majority of the vote in the Dec. 5 presidential election.

De Gaulle said that in his seven years in office he had "placed France in a rank worthy of herself among the peoples."

He pledged, if re-elected, to attempt "to bring western Europe to unite for its prosperity, to try to establish understanding and security on the entire continent and to contribute to selling the conflict that rages in Asia and that threatens to lead to the worst consequences."

Johnson, Wilson End Diplomatic Discussions

WASHINGTON (UPI) —President Johnson and British Prime Minister Harold Wilson concluded intensive diplomatic discussions Friday with Wilson pledging a new effort to find a road to peace in Viet Nam.

The two leaders and their chief advisers conferred for more than three hours at a final working luncheon. Then White House Press Secretary Bill D. Moyers announced the prime minister told Johnson that as chairman of the Geneva Conference which dealt with the Vietnamese problem, he would make a new effort to seek peace in Southeast Asia.

The President and the prime minister joined together after their talks at the traditional lighting of the national Christmas tree near the White House grounds.

Moyers also noted the recent exchange of letters between Italian Foreign Minister Amintore Fanfani, and Secretary of State Dean Rusk about possible peace talks with North Viet Nam. The White House maintained there still was no indication from Hanoi that the North Vietnamese government was willing to discuss ending the war on an unconditional basis.

Meantime, Moyers said, "we have had no indication that the other side is willing to conduct unconditional discussions."

Moyers said the atmosphere of Johnson-Wilson talks was "very good, very intent."

Moyers told newsmen that Wilson, Johnson and a small group of advisers Friday afternoon also covered Britain's defense policies, East-West relations, nuclear policy of the Atlantic countries, India-Pakistan, Malaysia, Rhodesia and programs to assist the newly developing countries.

Pickup 5th pgh: Johnson

Johnson met with Wilson shortly after the prime minister's arrival from New York Thursday; at lunch and again at 4 p.m. EST Friday. Wilson scheduled a news conference after the meetings to sum it all up.

The British leader also conferred with U.S. Undersecretary of State George W. Ball, Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara and Presidential Assistant McGeorge Bundy.

The subject of their talk was believed to be the Nato ministers' conference in Paris, from which McNamara and Secretary of State Dean Rusk just returned. Ball represented Rusk at the meeting with Wilson at the British Embassy.

One important subject reported to be under discussion was new plan for an Atlantic alliance nuclear force which may be gaining support among Nato nations.

The new proposal was said to call for contribution to an allied force of four U.S. and four British atomic missile submarines plus some or all of Britain's nuclear-carrying V-bombers. Wester Germany and probably Italy and the Netherlands would make financial contributons.

These three nations would take part in a joint command, but not operate weapons. All five countries would have a veto over firing weapons.

Finally, the plan would not provide for mixed nationality crews, which was part of earlier Nato nuclear force plans.

Rhodesia also was said to be a prime subject of discussion between the two leaders. The United States was trying to get Britain to announce an oil embargo against the rebellious regime of Prime Minister Ian Smith, but Wilson's government was wary of the move.

Goodfellows Drive Goal Is Still Falling Short

Volunteers are checking out aid recommendations. Others are trying to determine which families are most in need of food, toys and clothing.

With this activity in high gear, and with requests mounting at Goodfellows headquarters, the Friends of Goodfellows contribution total still struggles.

Over $1,200 must yet come from area citizens if the goal is to be met, with Christmas just a week away.

Only the more fortunate and generous residents of the area, such as those previously acknowledged, can decide to fulfill the goal and spread the Christmas spirit over the whole area.

Consider the difference just one person's decision may make to the following family on Christmas Day: There are twelve children, the house and everything they owned was destroyed by fire in September. Bare survival became a matter of concern; two weeks ago, the father was seriously injured and hospitalized by an explosion. He is now unable to work.

They are now living with their semi - invalid grandfather. He has little room for them, and is on a small pension. But there is nowhere else to go.

There are many others in like situations. Those who decide to help make Christmas for someone less dreary, can send contributions to Goodfellows, in care of News-Star—World Publishing Corp., 411 N. 4th St., Monroe, La.

The corporation agreed to pay $1,914,000 for a tract beside the capitol complex here, owned by the Baton Rouge Roman Catholic diocese. An education building and other state office buildings will be constructed on the site.

South Korea, Japan Will Ink Treaty

SEOUL, Korea (UPI) — Japan and South Korea will establish formal diplomatic relations Saturday for the first time in history, climaxing 14 years of negotiations between the once traditional enemies.

The historic action, which has triggered violent protests in both countries, will be taken in a ceremony here with the exchange of ratification instruments of a treaty of friendship.

A Japanese delegation led by Foreign Minister Etsusaburo Shiina arrived in Seoul Friday to exchange the documents with a Korean delegation headed by Foreign Minister Lee Dong Wong.

The normalization of relations comes after on-again, off-again —and sometimes bitter—negotiations between representatives of both nations.

The Korean opponents called the normalization treaty a result of their governments' "sell out diplomacy."

They charged that Japan did not promise enough reparations in atonement for its occupation of the country and complained of too many concessions to Japan.
Japan.

Japanese opposition politicians claimed the treaty was designed to set up a three-nation military alliance among the United Stetes, South Korea and Japan to contain communism.

They also charged the $800 million that Japan promised to give Korea in grants and loans in settling the so-called "claims issue" was too much and complained that by establishing normal relations with Seoul, the Tokyo government chose to completely ignore Communist North Korea.

The treaty was signed in June in Tokyo and ratified by the South Korean National Assembly in August.

Americans Would Welcome NATO Aid

PARIS (UPI) —NATO support for the U.S. in Viet Nam — including troops and tanks — would be welcomed, American officials said Friday. "We are open to any offers," they said.

An appeal to the North Atlantic Treaty Organization (NATO) Council by Secretary of State Dean Rusk Tuesday covered every kind of aid, the officials said.

Any tangible support, from shipments of ambulances and hospital supplies to outright military assistance of the kind given during the Korean War, would be welcomed, they said.

The sources said, however, that the first NATO reaction to Rusk's plea was "predicable" — not too encouraging.

As one U.S. official put it: "There certainly was no frenzy of applause."

Rusk told the council bluntly the United States was not fighting America's war alone in Viet Nam. He warned the fate of Europe could be decided on the battlefields of Southeast Asia.

He emphasized that if the U.S. backed out of its commitment to defend Viet Nam, neither the Communists nor the West could any longer be confident the U.S. would honor its pledges to defend Europe.

Rusk's hard-hitting statement was supported Wednesday by Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara who warned grimly that Communist China could attack other Asian countries with nuclear-armed rockets by 1967, and New York and San Francisco by 1975.

U.S. officials said the purpose of the two speeches was both to seek allied aid in Viet Nam and to persuade Europeans that Communist aggression has to be contained not only in Europe but throughout the world.

As U.S. officials explained it the United States is seeking to convince its European allies that they now are strong and affluent and that the Soviet threat to Western Europe has been contained.

Erhard Will Ask Johnson To Allow West Germany To Own Part Of Nuclear Force

BONN, West Germany (AP)—Chancellor Ludwig Erhard will ask President Johnson to let West Germany own part of a new nuclear force, it was reported Friday on the highest political authority. Erhard will see the President on Monday.

In Erhard's reported view, the force should be put together from weapons already existing and be placed under the Atlantic alliance. These would be intermediate-range weapons, capable of hitting the Soviet Union.

The informant emphasized that Erhard does not consider it enough for West Germany to take part in the Atlantic nuclear planning committee set up in Paris last month at the suggestion of U.S. Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara.

Erhard does not want West Germany to have any national control of nuclear weapons, and does want President Johnson to retain final authority to pull the nuclear trigger, the informant added.

He gave this account: Erhard will not be pressing for any fixed date for the new force, but expects it will not affect West Germany's 1966 budget—which he is trying hard to cut. Erhard believes one of the reasons for the failure of the plan for a Multilateral Nuclear Force—MLF—was the setting of too precise a date for an accord. The force would have created a new nuclear weapons system—a fleet of surface ships armed with Polaris missiles and manned by crews of mixed nationality.

Erhard favors a treaty to stop the spread of nuclear weapons, which the United States is trying hard to negotiate with the Soviet Union. The Russians say such a treaty will not be possible if the West Germans get access to nuclear weapons, but they have not said clearly what they mean by "access." There are three major points to be settled.

Job Corps Facing 'Tighten-Up' Period

WASHINGTON (AP) — The startup phase is over in the Job Corps and the "tighten-up period" is about to begin, Director Otis A. Singletary said Friday.

"What we have done, for better or worse, is to create a third public school system," Singletary said, in an interview.

He referred to the programs for teen-age school dropouts in conservation and urban centers, with their emphasis on learning by doing and special aid for youngsters who are only barely literate.

"The main emphasis in the first year has been creation of the program — the startup phase," Singletary said. "Frank Johnson will be faced with an entirely diference job — tidier adminstration, the tighten-up period."

Singletary steps out Jan. 1 to return to Greensboro, N.C., where he heads the Women's College of the University of North Carolina.

Franklin A. Johnson will take over from Singletary. Johnson is president of California State College.

Singletary noted that where on Jan. 1, "there wasn't any such thing as a Job Corps center or enrollees in 75 centers. We plan to have 40,000 in 120 centers by June 30."

"People don't see it, but a lot has been done — a new federal agency has been created and staffed," he said.

"The Agriculture and Interior departments run our camps. The Labor Department helps with the screening of enrollees. Defense supplies us with surplus materials and helps us locate camps. These agencies do a lot of things for us we can't do ourselves."

The dropout rate remains at 25 to 30 per cent, he said, but "the remarkable thing is that for 70 to 75 per cent the program is working. We started with a dropout rate of 100 per cent."

As to the disturbances at five Job Corps centers across the nation, ranging from girls disturbing a quiet neighborhood with their noise to a riot with racial overtones, Singletary said: "The surprising thing is that there hasn't been more of it. You're going to have disciplinary problems with kids like these."

Showdown Brewing Over Reclassification

ANN ARBOR, Mich. (AP) — A legal showdown appears brewing over the right of draft boards to reclassify for immediate induction students who participate in sit-in demonstrations against the Viet Nam war.

At least 10 University of Michigan students who took part in an Oct. 15 sit-in at the Ann Arbor Selective Serivce office have been reclassified to 1-A from 2-S status.

A 2-S classification is for students deferred from the draft to complete their education.

At least three of the reclassified students reachable for comment said they still hold to their anti-Viet war feelings.

"I would do the same thing again," said Eric Chester, 20. Douglas Truax, 21, called his position "still very much the same." "I still hold basically the same views," said Ronald Miller, 19.

Among others protesting the reclassification are a U.S. senator, the university president, a veterans organization and several law professors.

Lt. Gen. Lewis B. Hershey, Selective Service director, said it has always been his view that a young man who violates the Selective Service law "should be given an opportunity to enter the armed forces rather than be prosecuted for his violation of the law."

Prosecution should come, he added, only if the youth refuses to be inducted.

Draft officials point out that section 12A of the Universal Military Training and Service Act, as amended, provides that anyone who "knowingly hinders or interferes or attempts to do so in any way by force or violence," with the Selective Service could be fined $10,000 and sent to prison for five years if convicted.

So far, no federal charges have been filed against the sit-in demonstrators, but 39 have been convicted of violating the city ordinance for trespassing. All have appealed their Municipal Court fines and 10-day jail sentences to Circuit Court.

The 39 sit-downers, who included six girls and two boys too young for Selective Service registration, were part of a group for more than 200 demonstrators who marched in protest outside the office building where the Ann Arbor draft board is located.

"I'd like to make it clear that no one has done anything at all against the students who were simply demonstrating," said Col. Arthur Holes, state Selective Service director.

"There were 200 kids out there, and we don't even know who they were and we don't want to. The only ones we're concerned with are those who broke the law and deliberately interfered with the board's operation."

But a spokesman for the American Civil Liberties Union, which is defending nine of the 10 reclassified students, contended the draft boards are imposing punishment without trial.

The U.S. Constitution protects the right of free speech and assembly and draft officials are depriving the students of this right, the ACLU says.

Attorney Ernest Mazey, director of the Michigan branch of the ACLU, said a decision will be made Wednesday at a meeting in New York on what legal strategy will be pursued.

Among those who have questioned the draft board's action are Sen. Philip Hart, D-Mich., University of Michigan President Harlan Hatcher, the Americans Veterans Committee, and 101 law professors at nine law schools.

In a letter to President Johnson, the professors criticized recent statements by Selective Service personnel warning that draft deferments would be withdrawn for "actions against the national interest."

Inspections End Today

Ouachita Parish School Board members and Supt. Milton C. Hall will complete a series of visits and inspections of parish schools by touring four school plants today.

Millsaps Elementary School in West Monroe, West Monroe Junior High School, West Monroe High School and Crosley Elementary School in West Monroe will be inspected.

In previous inspection tours, the board members have found major items which required immediate repairs, including a termite condition at Mitchell Elementary School and a leaking roof in a new school, Riser Junior High School.

After the visits are ended, Hall said, the board will conduct a repair campaign.

Home Is Grateful For Food Given

Wade B. East, superintendent of the Louisiana Baptist Children's Home in Monroe, said Friday that the Home is grateful for canned goods and other items gathered by Baptist churches throughout Louisiana in the annual Fall Food Roundup.

The Home truck made the last of 22 scheduled trips this fall on Thursday.

Without these contributions the child care agency would be greatly handicapped, the superintendent said.

Appeals Court Studies Death Penalty Cases

NEW ORLEANS (AP)— The 5th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals Friday took under advisement a series of seven cases—three involving the death penalty and all involving the constitutional question of Negroes left off or put on juries.

All nine judges of the appellate court met in the rare en banc session to consider the inclusion or exclusion of Negroes on federal and state juries. Arguments lasted two days.

Judge John Brown of Houston, Tex., appeared to sum up the major problem involved when at one point he asked how a court could follow a higher court order to obtain a balanced jury representing a cross-section of the community, making sure Negroes were included, without intentionally selecting Negroes.

One case considered today was the appeal of five Georgia Negroes convicted in federal court of perjury. The charged Negroes were systematically excluded from service on the trial jury and race was a factor in selecting the grand jury which indicted them.

Jack Greenburg, attorney for the five, charged that the federal jury list was merely made up of names from a state jury list which, he claimed, was drawn up in a way that violated constitutional principles.

Judge Brown, asking for suggestions on how to revise the method of picking a jury, said: "We have to find right now a jury selection system that will work."

Greenburg recommended that jury commissioners check with various organizations, without regard to race, seeking names of potential jurors, and come up with a reasonable representation of the community including qualified Negroes.

Nathan Lewis, a Justice Department attorney, agreed that the present jury selection system did not meet the new challenges on exclusion or intentional inclusion of Negroes on juries.

Eight Indictments

SHREVEPORT, La. (AP) — The former director of Shreveport's two airports and an airport bookkeeper were named in eight indictments charging theft of city funds by the Caddo Parish grand jury Friday.

Granville L. Moore, former director, and Robert T. Crofton, bookkeeper, were indicted jointly and separately in eight indictments reported to Judge John A. Dixon in Caddo Parish district court.

Inquiry Into Burned Ship Takes Recess

MIAMI (UPI)—A Coast Guard board of inquiry into the fatal voyage of the cruise ship Yarmouth Castle recessed Friday following testimony from crewmen in the Bahamas and Jamaica.

The three officer board returned here late Thursday. The board heard testimony during the week in Nassau and Kingston from 11 crewmen and a woman passenger who were aboard the ship when it burned and sank about 125 miles east of Miami Nov. 13.

Officers said the board will recess through the holidays. During the first week of January, members of the board may travel to Montreal, Canada, to take depositions from Capt. John Lehto of the Finnish freighter Finnpulp.

The Finnpulp took part in rescue operations in the Yarmouth Castle sinking. Ninety persons died as a result of the ship disaster.

Brief Is Filed

BATON ROUGE (AP)— Atty. Gen. Jack Gremillion mailed to the U.S. Supreme Court Friday a "friend of the court" brief outlining Louisiana's opposition to enforcement of the 1965 Voter Rights Law.

Studies Suit

LAFAYETTE, La. (AP) — A federal judge took under study Friday a $200,000 damage suit filed by a stand-in for singer and movie star Elvis Presley.

T. W. Creel sought the damages from Rowan Drilling Co. He said he suffered injuries in a fall from an offshore rig in the Gulf of Mexico in 1960.

Creel, who did stand-in chores for Presley in "GI Blues" and "Girls, Girls, Girls," said he suffers headaches and dizziness as a direct result of the fall.

He added that because of the dizzy spells, he has been relieved of his Hollywood job.

U.S. Dist. Judge Richard Putnam of Lafayette said he would study the case and announce a decision later.

CROSSETT, Ark. (Special) — The Crossett Chamber of Commerce is sponsoring the annual Christmas Home Decoration Contest. Judging will be between 7 and 9 p.m. on Wednesday.

U.S. Programs Series Of B52 Hits In Laos

tactical warplanes were proving to have little lasting effect, since the northern Communists could usually repair the roads in a matter of hours, and resume using them as soon as a darkness shielded them from a repeat attack.

American air operations against Communist targets in Laos in the past have been so shrouded in secrecy that the U.S. has been reluctant to use American military personnel in vulnerable rescue helicopters. For that reason the rescue of American pilots downed in Laos is handled by a band of mercenary pilots working for an organization known as Air America.

On Friday, U.S. Air Force pilots sighted Soviet-made MIG jet fighters over North Viet Nam but the Communist airmen showed no apparent desire to fight.

A U.S. military spokesman said American pilots on armed reconnaissance missions over Communist territory reported total of seven Migs in the Dien Eien Phu area.

Five of the Communist planes were sighted about 65 miles east of Dien Bien Phu. Site of the historic 1954 French defeat in the Indochina War, which has been hit repeatedly American planes.

The American pilots said the Reds fled northward as soon as it became apparent they were discovered. The spokesman said the U.S. planes were low on fuel and could not give chase.

A second flight of two Migs was sighted over Dien Bien Phu itself. But the Communists did not get close enough to tangle with the American planes, the spokesman said.

The Americans were in two flights of F105 Thunderchiefs which took part in 11 raids that plastered Communist targets in the north with 73 tons of bombs, 2.75-inch rockets and 20-mm cannon fire.

In Saigon, a Communist terrorist tossed a bomb into a truck carrying U.S. Servicemen near Tan Son Nhut airport early Friday. Twelve Americans were injured, two of them seriously. The terrorist escaped.

The attack took place one block from the U.S. Army's 525th Military Intelligence Group compound where four American servicemen were wounded in a similar bombing Thursday.

Communist terrorists appeared to be stepping up activities in and near Saigon with the approach of the fifth anniversary of their National Liberation Front. Seven terrorist attacks were reported since Thursday.

Not What Others Give

A sort of paraphrasing of famous words uttered by the late President John F. Kennedy has been used by one commentator in expressing the thought that Negroes must learn more to help themselves and must depend less on others if they are to advance to the level they desire. This, of course, applies equally to everyone. Those who depend on others to do everything for them will never enjoy the fruits of real accomplishment.

Kennedy's words, which have often been quoted and which are sometimes shown along with his picture, were: "Think not of what your country can do for you, but think rather of what you can do for your country." We do not accept that completely because, in one sense, it might imply that the country is greater than the people, with which we disagree, but we do accept it in the sense that all should work to make their country better.

The commentator's paraphrasing read: "The question Negro leaders need to ask more and more is not, "What have you done for me lately?" but, rather, "What have we done for ourselves?"

Without doubt, national legislation in behalf of Negroes has brought some improvement in their lot, even though some of it was accomplished through loss of freedoms for all Americans, including the loss of the right to choose one's associates and the loss of the right of an employer to choose his own employes.

Education perhaps has done more for Negroes than legislation, as it has improved their ability to hold jobs other than menial or hard manual labor.

A rampant desire of politicians to enact new so-called civil rights legislation at every session of Congress has led to over-correction and an even greater stretch toward opposite extremes is said to be contemplated by President Johnson at next year's session of Congress. Some observers believe any attempt to stretch the political aspects of integration further by adding legislation to the books will hit a stone wall, perhaps in the form of a successful filibuster, in the next session.

Since the passage of the extreme Civil Rights Act in the last session of Congress, many national legislators believe there should be a lull to see what effect present laws will have. Some think the limit has already been passed. All members of the House of Representatives will be up for re-election next year, if they wish to retain their posts, and these Congressmen think the effects of a white backlash could be so serious that they might be defeated if attempts are made to enact additional "rights" legislation.

A helpful document in making an assessment of the real advancement of the Negro is a report published by Doubleday & Co., with the title "This U.S.A." The book was written by Ben J. Wattenburg and Richard M. Scammon, who was director of the United States Census from 1961 until early this year.

The authors have applied the census figures of recent years to the important issues and problems concerning the Negro population.

What appear to be the sharpest gains between 1940 and 1960 have been made in education, under which the Negroes have advanced in schools provided for them mainly by the white people. This began long before the civil rights drives in the Kennedy and Johnson administrations, although it must be admitted that action taken by the late President Franklin D. Roosevelt spurred some states to improve Negro schools in a fruitless effort to avoid integration. Louisiana and a number of other states, however, had had laws for many years which required all educables between the ages of six and 16 to attend school. These state laws were really what marked the upturn in Negro education.

Figures show that educational levels moved up sharply between 1940 and 1960. In 1940 the median years of schooling achieved by whites was 10.7 and by Negroes was only seven. By 1960 this had changed so that the median attained by whites was 12.3 years and that by Negroes was 10.8 years. Looking at it another way, 3.4 per cent of the nation's whites and 27 per cent of the Negroes had less than five years of schooling in 1940. By 1960 this had changed so that only 2.2 per cent of the whites and only 7.2 per cent of the Negroes fell in this category.

The percentage of whites, which was at a much higher level, with four years or more of college did not quite double in the 20-year span but the percentage of Negroes with college educations more than tripled.

Despite the often-stated belief that Negroes have been able to advance professionally only by "teaching and preaching," there was a good gain by Negroes in many professions between 1940 and 1960. The number of lawyers and judges almost doubled in that period. The number of engineers increased from 238 to 4,378; the number of chemists from 254 to 1,539 and the number of college presidents, professors and instructors from 1,408 to 3,518. These increases were mostly brought about by improved educational qualifications.

It is true that some employers are being forced to hire Negroes without proper qualifications but there can be no real, lasting benefit from such an arrangement.

Census figures show that in some areas Negro progress has been slow. Unemployment among whites, for example, declined from 14.2 per cent in 1940 to 3.9 per cent in October 1965. Unemployment among Negroes, while it showed a dramatic decline during the postwar period, still runs 7.9 per cent.

One of the most serious Negro problems now, census figures show, is that of illegitimacy. The ratio of illegitimate births to 1,000 live births among white women has hovered between 18 and 24 from 1938 to 1960. Among nonwhite the ratio has been rising — from 167 to 216, occasioned probably by the fact that mothers of illegitimate children received pay from the federal government.

Chances for real Negro advancement come back to the question of what they will do for themselves.

Matching Mismated Feet

When most people have one foot that is somewhat larger than the other, they buy shoes big enough for the bigger one and let the smaller foot wear the other one, come what may. That is the cheaper way to do. But what if you have one foot that is a size four and the other a size six. Two women in England faced that situation but they found a happy solution when it developed that one had a bigger left foot and the other a bigger right foot.

A London newspaper carried a story about the predicament of Mrs. Doris Todd of London, who wears a size four on her left foot and a size six on her right foot. Mrs. Joyce Ellis of Sheffield, England, wears a size six on her left foot and a size four on her right foot. They either bought two pairs at a time, one for each foot, or had footwear made at about $29 a pair.

Mrs. Ellis read Mrs. Todd's story and decided they should get together and go shopping. Now, if they buy two or three pairs at a time, one takes the big right shoes and the small left ones — and vice versa.

This makes a fine arrangement. Getting shoes that fit just right is problem enough even if your feet are mates. If they are not, that makes it even worse. Cooperation of the kind shown by the two British women could help.

Bigger Farm Acreages Likely

May Accept Challenge Of World Food Shortages

IF THE UNITED States accepts the challenge mounted by world food shortages and embarks upon a program to feed hungry millions in a number of countries, that commitment could turn out to be one of the historic involvements in the nation's history.

After the enactment of new farm legislation this year providing for retirement of 40 million acres of our agricultural acreage from production in the next 10 years, in addition to 55 million acres already in disuse, the sudden realization that this country may have to reverse its restrictive course to fight world famine has suddenly been recognized by the Department of Agriculture and by some farm leaders in Congress.

Among the latter is Representative Harold D. Cooley, Democrat of North Carolina, chairman of the House Agricultural Committee who foresees an "about face" in domestic farm policy as one of the issues which will confront the coming session of Congress.

ADMITTING THAT a general policy change in food production must now be considered, Cooley has said that Congress must decide whether "to loose the cords that now bind our agriculture and then set upon a vastly expanded attack upon starvation around the world — in programs aimed ultimately at developing the potentials for food sufficiency in those areas where hunger is now rampant."

In other words, the emphasis at the next session may be on the easing of farm crop controls, a sharp reversal from the continuous policy in the other direction most of the time since World War II.

That the change will be approached gradually and any action will depend upon the attitude of the Johnson Administration is conceded. However, the Food for Peace program, which only a few months ago was marked for curtailment unless plans could be worked out for some compensation to this country for shipments of its surplus foodstuffs to hungry populations, is due for early reconsideration by a committee of Congress, with a bill due to be considered which would ease crop controls to permit farmers to produce for indicated world needs, and reward them with a fair price and an assured market at home and abroad, subject to guidelines provided by the Secretary of Agriculture.

THAT SOUNDS much like the language of previous farm programs, with one difference — production would be matched by consumption, and there would be no surpluses to be stored at heavy annual cost. The blunt question, however seems to be whether methods of payment can be agreed on. After years of gifts of food to a number of Asiatic and African countries, to put the war against hunger on a cash basis requires some thought.

Senator George McGovern, Democrat of South Dakota, who has had a leading role in the Food for Peace program from its inception, has outlined a program, including the production to meet world needs, of which the estimated cost is $3.5 billions or about as much as the current outlay to meet price supports.

The upcoming national budget, which the cost of the Viet Nam war requires be trimmed at every possible point, will scarcely permit the addition of another $3.5 billions to feed hungry nations.

THE "ABOUT FACE" foreseen by Representative Cooley could mean a number of changes in the agricultural outlook including expansion in size of farms and the amount of farm equipment, more business for the railroads and barge lines and the return to agriculture of many farmers who have retired or moved to other occupations.

Politically the "about face" could have the effect of restoring some of the power and prestige of the old "farm bloc" whose strength in both Houses of Congress has shrunk in recent years, as the executive branch of government through the Department of Agriculture has assumed more and more administrative power.

The Department through Undersecretary John A. Schnittker has raised the point that there are present limits on how much grain and other foodstuffs this country can supply, and upon the capacity of receiving nations, India in particular, to process and distribute the amounts made available.

U. S. food has been sent in quantities to South Viet Nam to satisfy hunger. Those exports and other to India, Egypt and scattered communities over the globe have now depleted our surplus to the point where it will soon be negligible. Whether to increase production to meet all anticipated demands thus becomes a question of vast political import. It can figure heavily in domestic as well as international politics.

BARRY GOLDWATER

Shriver's Complaint Appears Unjustified

SARGENT SHRIVER, commander of Lyndon Johnson's poverty war as well as the Peace Corps, has just fired a grim warning shot across my bow, describing the facts of one of my columns as being untrue. I return the fire and the compliment.

Here is Shriver's complaint as contained in a telegram to me:

"Your column of Sunday, Nov. 14 . . . has just come to my attention. I was shocked to read the charge that the 'Peace Corps has just proposed a formal link with one of the most hot - headed political protest groups in the land, the Students for a Democratic Society.' Nothing could be further from the truth.

"We have proposed no formal link of any kind with this organization or its membership. To make our position extremely clear, I am sending air mail special delivery a copy of a recent press release which illustrates the policy of our organization. Before you or your staff make such charges in the future I do think we should have the opportunity to tell you the facts."

Fortunately I do not have to comment on Shriver's complaint personally. The facts, for which he shows such an extreme regard, make their own comment, and I present them herewith as an answer.

SINCE SHRIVER would scarcely accept any statement of mine as facual, I quote from a source which, I presume, he will find satisfactory, the news columns of the New York Times. The following appeared in that paper on the first of November, this year:

"Peace Corps officials, who are trying to attract more politically motivated volunteers, are asking student activists for advice on recruiting and training techniques.

"The officials are known to be deeply concerned with the high number of 'bland' volunteers who do not grasp the potential of such projects as community development — a program used primarily in Latin America to improve, sometimes create, the social and economic organization of a village . . .

"Student activists may be asked to work for a time in community - organizing projects, such as those run by the Students for a Democratic Society in Newark and Chicago, according to Frank Mankiewicz, Latin - American regional director of the crops.

"The things SDS has done in Newark are valuable for our volunteers to be exposed to," he said. "We want to take advantage of their experience."

"THE SOCIETY IS a national organization of about 3,000 active members . . . It had concentrated on organizing the poor in Northern urban areas, but also has advocated a negotiated peace in Viet Nam and helped organize public protests against American policy in the Far East.

"Paul Booth, its executive secretary, has said that he was impressed with the corps' appeal for politically - minded volunteers.

"Mr. Booth, in a news conference in Washington last week, noted that the society had urged that young people be given a choice between serving the country in the military or in some other form of service. One alternative proposed was the Peace Corps."

Perhaps Shriver disagrees only as to how "formal" a link has been proposed with SDS, or is he now prepared to disavow the statement attributed to his Latin - American director?

Unfortunately, and perhaps due to the high - powered efficiency of the post office under its new boss, the air mail special delivery press release which apparently explains the Peace Corps' "official" position on such groups as SDS had not arrived when I wrote this column. Rest assured, however, that as soon as it finds its way to my mailbox I will share its comments with you.

Meantime, instead of complaining so loudly about columnists, Shriver might do well to put his own house in order.

Letup In Crackdown On Crimes Is Sought

CARL ROWAN, WHO went from newspapering to diplomacy and back to newspapering, last week advanced some cogent proposals for ending Communist aggression in Southeast Asia. He urged an immediate suspension in bombing of Viet Nam, and reported upon his conversations with envoys from two Communist countries who assured him this would be a successful move.

The manifest reasonableness of this approach is certain to overwhelm every fairminded reader. It has overwhelmed me. And because one war is very much like another, I am moved to venture certain other proposals, and to report upon certain unrelated conversations, that surely will appeal equally to rational men across the land.

A pause by law enforcement authorities in their crackdown on crime has become the key to any possible peaceful settlement of the ugly, escalating crime wave that grips the entire United States.

Opinion is sharply divided within the administration on the proposal for a suspension of raids and arrests. The odds are that FBI Director Hoover will order a let-up for these reasons:

1. MR. HOOVER surely must sense that a growing segment of the American public believes that the police have not pursued zealously enough the opportunities for rehabilitation, psychiatric help, and guidance counseling among the nation's criminal elements. We should understand that criminals are not necessarily criminals; they may be driven to anti-social behavior when they truly would prefer to live lawabiding lives.

2. Rejection by Mr. Hoover of a new, substantial pause in his war upon organized crime would indicate anew to the world that it is the police who block the way to rehabilitation. This would place squarely upon the criminals the onus for the large expansion in police forces that both Mr. Hoover and President Johnson have recommended.

I can report that every recent fragile sign of the underworld's willingness to go straight has involved a stipulation that crackdowns be suspended.

High-level representatives of two major gangs recently sought me out to say that a pause in law enforcement is the key to peace. One of them, known as Left-handed Louie, said the pause should be for two months.

NOW, IT IS TRUE that Louie would make no promises of good behavior during such a two-month period, nor would he look beyond that point. But I believe it is unrealistic to expect Louie to say that taking the beat off will induce him to negotiate. Louie is never going to admit that the current crackdowns are hurting his mob that much, or that it wants them stopped that badly.

The only way to find out whether Left-handed Louie and his fellow hoods really want to go straight is to cease the crackdowns. We shall either succeed in slowing down the rapid escalation in crime, or in proving that the sociologists know less about the mood and intention of the mob than they think. Either way, the stage will be cleared to the extent that we can move toward negotiating an end to crime or to a real drive against the underworld, knowing that in good conscience, we made every effort to avoid a brutal, all-out effort against the racketeers.

Now, it will be asked if Louie and his pals would not use a two month suspension period in order to build up their gangs, commit new crimes, and engage in new depradations upon the civilian population. This is a risk that must be taken if our humanitarian intentions are to be proved to both the criminal and non-criminal worlds.

IT ALSO WILL be asked if Left-handed Louie would live up to any promises if the heat were taken off and his mob were no longer harassed by the cops. It is true that Louie has been convicted 88 times of perjury, and that it is universally agreed that he ought never to be believed under oath. Yet this, too, is a chance that must be taken.

My own travels convince me that a public crisis in confidence is growing. That is, more and more Americans believe that J. Edgar Hoover is giving only lip service to rehabilitation and social uplift of our criminal elements. In times past, the Director has had an opportunity to negotiate with the mob. His refusal to believe in their bona fides has added to the public tendency to doubt his sincerity.

A pause in the crime war would not endanger the public to any substantial degree. And if the pause failed to persuade Louie to lead a new and regenerate life, we would then have no choice but to throw in whatever resources are needed to show the mobsters that their robberies, muggings, and dope rackets are opposed to public policy. But before we opt for an all-out police effort, we ought to take the heat off long enough to leave no doubt of our desire to pursue sociological theories.

This is the enlightened way. This is the prudent way. How else should we deal with gangsters?

Watts Insurrection Books Are Not Shut

LOS ANGELES — In this city, once the glamor capital of the world and lushly beautiful, they have not closed the books on the Watts insurrection. Where once the talk was of movie stars and the romance of contracts, it is now of that sad section where Negroes in riot destroyed the homes and livelihood of their own people.

The rest of the country has pushed Watts into the limbo of unpleasant memories. But Angelenos in Beverly Hills, Hollywood, and all the other "cities" which make up the vast acres of the embracing entity are uneasily considering the possibilities of another and greater Watts.

Nothing, they say, has changed. If they subscribe to the sociological explanation — poverty and unemployment and hopelessness did it — they insist that all the investigations have not removed a single one of the root causes. If, like the grand jury which reported last week, they blame "a criminal element" in an orgy of violence, they do not see any real counteracting force at work to prevent a second outbreak.

THE GRAND JURY, it is true, pointed to one course of action when it said: "There can be no extenuating circumstances to rationalize this ruthless outbreak of lawlessness and those who are convicted of leadership or participation in this riot should be punished to the fullest extent of the law."

But this achieves no more than the quality categorical statements of the McCone Commission, which investigated the Watts explosion on its own. In fact, when Governor Edmund (Pat) Brown noted that "the commission discovered that the three high schools in (Watts) have a two - thirds dropout rate" he had arrived no further at either a solution or an understanding of the problem. It is hardly likely that the special session of the Legislature called by Governor Brown for early next year will do more than flounder in its own platitudes.

If lack of schooling is the root cause, then an emphasis on expanded educational facilities will only increase the number of dropouts. If lack of hope is to blame, a drive against literacy will hardly plant the seed of enthusiasm in those who live in Watts. And if criminals alone are responsible, then the question remains: "Why in Watts rather than in crime and drug-ridden Harlem?"

THE GRAND JURY argues that the vast preponderance of people in Watts were horrified by the rioting, and this is probably true. But the horror came, for the most part, after the outbreak had gotten out of hand. Prior to that, there must have been tacit support or simple apathy. Had there been marked opposition, the climate which breeds insurrection would have been missing. Mass opposition stills the hand of the rioter and cools his ardor. Social pressure is much more potent under these circumstances than fire hoses and nightsticks.

Listening to the various viewpoints as they are bandied about is a discouraging experience. To replace the police leaders at this time, as some urge, would only encourage further adventures. So, too, would heavy - handed punitive measures. Nowhere was there any real understanding of the psychology of revolt and the dynamism of revolution.

If there is any single cause for the Watts riot it is in the attitude that Watts riots are inevitable in the context of our moral and social crisis. In life, nothing is inevitable except death. But both whites and Negroes have preached the inevitability of riot and chaos in the relations of men. And many Negro leaders have not done their part by offering either solutions or palliatives. They have made it plain that they are not really concerned.

Acquisition By United Gas Noted

HOUSTON (Special) — United Gas Corporation and Kaneb Pipe Line Company have signed an agreement under which United Gas will acquire Kaneb subject to the approval of Kaneb's stockholders, according to an announcement made by Ed Parkes, president of United Gas, and Herbert E. Fisher, president of Kaneb.

The announcement was made following approval by both companies' boards of directors. The agreement provides for the acquisition by a new wholly-owned subsidiary of United Gas of all the properties and business of Kaneb in exchange for 960,154 shares of United Gas common stock.

It is estimated that the acquisition will be consummated in the latter part of February 1966. Kaneb has approximately 1,280,000 shares of common stock outstanding, including shares subject to employee option. Under reorganization plans provided for in the agreement subsequent to consummation of the acquisition, Kaneb will be dissolved and the United Gas Stock received will be distributed to Kaneb stockholders. Kaneb's common stockholders will recieve ¾ share of United for each share of Kaneb held.

Kaneb will retire prior to consummation of the acquisition its 7,440 shares of 6½ percent cumulative preferred stock outstanding. United will assume Kaneb's long term debt of $16,758,999.

United Gas has 15,000,000 shares of authorized common stock 12,868,98? of which are outstanding. The stock payment to Kaneb will be made from shares already authorized, but unissued. Parkes said that United has been actively pursuing an entry into the petroleum products transportation business for some time and that the acquisition of Kaneb will provide that entry.

United was one of several bidders on the Great Lakes Pipe Line facilities, which were offered for sale earlier this year, based on detailed studies which convinced it of the profit potential of the product pipeline business. Parkes said "These studies enabled us to promptly evaluate the proposal for consolidation when we were approached by Kaneb.

The acquisition would add to the United facilities a 1,035-mile modern pipeline system extending from the northern border of Oklahoma to Jamestown, N.D., serving petroleum marketers in the Midwest through eight company - owned distribution terminals. In addition, Kaneb interchanges traffic with other pipelines serving directly other large areas of the Midwest.

Fisher pointed out that Kaneb has completed recently a major expansion program which added an additional 341 miles to its then existing 694 miles of products pipeline and has extended its distribution territory northward through South and North Dakota to the Canadian border. Kaneb facilities are operated under a contract with Pipeline Technologists, Inc. of Houston, an international pipeline management and engineering firm. Parkes said that the close association with Pipetech will give United and its new products pipeline subsidiary access to the expertise of Pipetech on a continuing basis. The availability of Pipetech personnel for engineering studies of new liquid pipeline projects will be most valuable to United in developing investment opportunitites in this growth industry, he said.

State and local officials and top International Telephone and Telegraph officers will be here Monday for formal groundbreaking ceremonies for ITT's new plant. A banquet will be held.

Gov. John McKeithen, Sen. Russell Long and Rep. Otto E. Passman have accepted invitations, Monroe Mayor W. L. Howard said Friday. The city of Monroe and the Chamber of Commerce will host the ceremonies.

Corporation President Harold Geneen and vice presidents John Lobb and E. J. Gerrity Jr. will represent ITT at the groundbreaking, after which they will be honored at a 12:30 p.m. banquet at the Bayou DeSiard Country Club, to be attended by Monroe civic and business leaders.

Groundbreaking will be at 11:30 a.m. at the Selman Field industrial park. Howard and Chamber President Howard Griffin have extended an invitation to the public to attend the groundbreaking ceremonies.

Howard described the ITT decision to locate in Monroe as a "breakthrough," adding, "we could not have selected a company with a better reputation."

The $708,000 plant, which should be finished in about 6 months, will initially employ about 100 persons. The number is expected to reach 200 by the end of the first year's operation, according to ITT spokesman Keith Perkins.

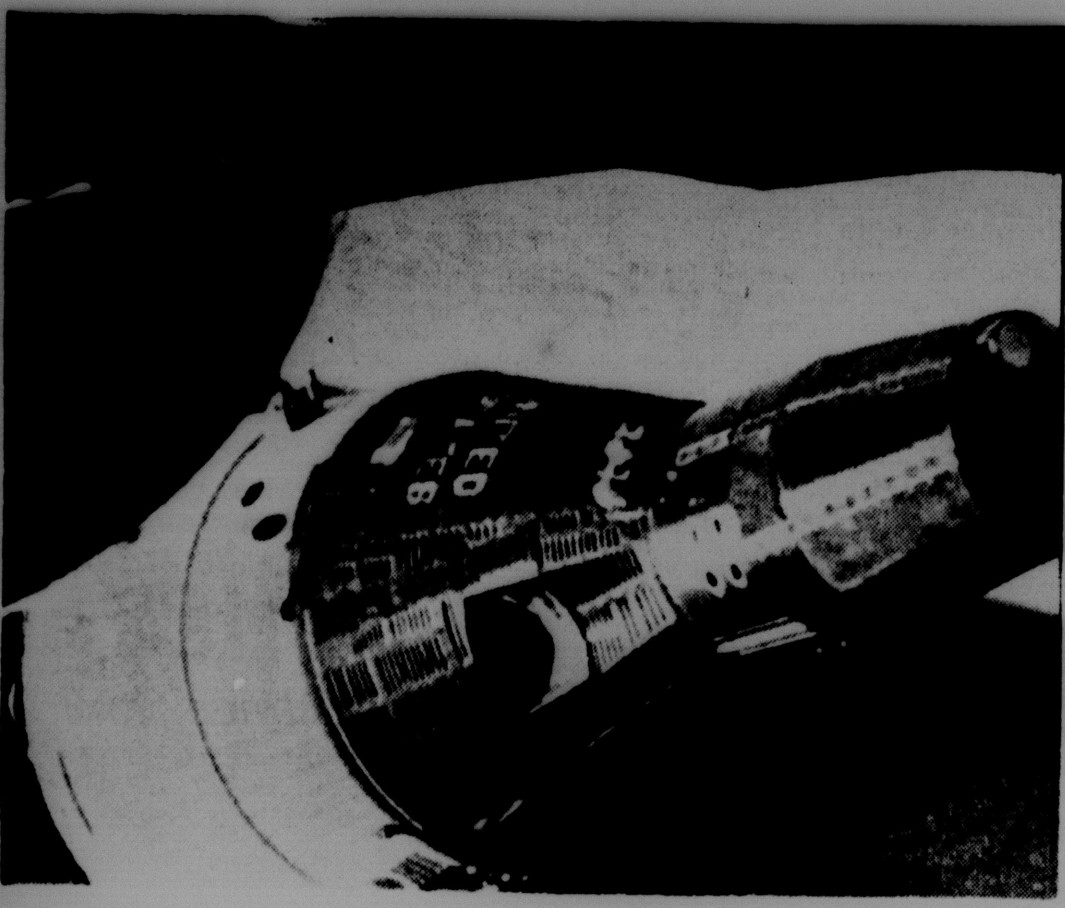
THE GEMINI 7 spacecraft moves against an ocean background toward its historic rendezvous last Wednesday 160 miles above the earth with Gemini 6. This picture was taken from 16 mm. movie film shot by astronaut Wally Schirra and released Friday at the Manned Space Center near Houston, Tex. (NASA photo via AP Wirephoto)



TWO GEMINI SPACECRAFT are only a few feet apart at this moment during the rendezvous they achieved in space last Wednesday while careening along at some 17,500 miles an hour. Astronaut Wally Schirra in Gemini 6 made this picture on 16 mm. movie film of Gemini 7. (NASA photo via AP Wirephoto)

Films Show Gemini 7 In Its Orbit In Space

MANNED SPACE CENTER, Houston, Tex. (AP) — The remarkable majesty of the Gemini 7 spacecraft in orbital flight, with "United States" and the American flag clearly visible, was shown the world Friday on flawless color film taken from sister ship Gemini 6.

Space agency officials hailed the film as "beautiful, wonderful, tremendous." Ground controllers at Mission Control were the first to view the film and they responded with a spontaneous standing ovation.

The filming of one spacecraft from another marked another "'first" for the Gemini 7-6 mission.

All three American television networks broadcast the 4½ minute film as newsmen got their first look, less than 48 hours after the film was exposed by Navy Capt. Walter M. Schirra Jr., command pilot of Gemini 6.

The film was taken Wednesday during the rendezvous of the two craft.

Some footage shows Gemini 7 about 10 feet away but most was shot from about 50 to 100 feet, a spokesman said.

Officials also released several still shots taken of Gemini 7 with a Hasselblad camera. The color and black and white pictures were made public by the National Aeronautics and Space Administration.

Dr. Charles Mathews, Gemini program manager, said the movie film was made with a 35mm camera. He said it was rushed to Houston and processed for public view so fast that it had not yet been determined over what part of the earth the footage was exposed or which one of two movie cameras had been used.

Mathews said the 15-foot-strip of movie film was shot by Schirra at a rate of six frames per second, and projected today at 16 frames per second.

It is difficult to realize, as the film begins, that Gemini 7 is hurtling through space at more than 17,000 miles an hour. The craft seems almost suspended 185 miles above a cloud-enshrouded portion of the earth.

Slowly but perceptibly, however, the earth starts "slipping past" the spacecraft, indicating the blazing speed.

Some portions of the film were made when there was little or no relative motion between Gemini 7 and Gemini 6. Others show 7, piloted by astronauts Frank Borman and James A. Lovell Jr. as 6 slowly revolves about it.

The harsh, non-diffused quality of sunlight in space is evident, as it was in film taken in June of astronaut Edward H. White II's walk in space during the Gemini 4 mission.

Plastic strips or straps that Borman and Lovell mentioned seeing on Gemini 7 are seen to be protruding from the rear of the craft. Mathews said the straps were harmless, having been left over after separation from the rocket booster.

The spacecraft appears to be a navy blue in color. The adapter section, which is jettisoned during re-entry, is white. The best views were obtained when Gemini 6 was "above" Gemini 7, with clouds below serving as contrast.

Borman and Lovell were told of the success of the films as they were being viewed on television. The conversation between Astronaut Elliot M. See Jr. and Borman went like this:

See: "We have just seen the pictures. They are really outstanding. You just look great sitting up there."

Borman: "Thank you. Could you see our big long piece of wire (plastic strap) we were telling you about."

See: "Sure do. The pictures are remarkably clear and just completely precise in every detail. Every little detail is as clear as a bell. It's just tremendous film."

Borman: "I hope we have some good film of them (Gemini 6) also."

See: "We understand that your pictures are on all three (television) networks."

Borman: "Great. And here we are in our underwear."

Sentence On Manslaughter Handed Down

Judge Jesse S. Heard Friday sentenced Oscar Williams, 48, Monroe, to 10 years in the state penitentiary at Angola for manslaughter. The action came in Fourth District Court.

Williams, 2309 Calypso St., was charged in the 1956 slaying of another Negro.

Other prison terms meted out included:

Robert Gaston, Negro, 1805 Short Thomas, Monroe, five years for simple burglary. The term was suspended and Gaston placed on probation.

John Bernard Stanley, Negro, no permanent address, five years for simple burglary.

J. D. (Jim) Allen, Woodlawn Dr., Rt. 4, West Monroe, three years each on three counts of forgery, the terms to run concurrently.

John G. Wood, returned from Miami, Fla., earlier, three years for simple burglary and two years for theft of an automobile. The terms also will run concurrently.

Robert Earl Lee, Negro, 306 Atkinson St., Monroe, three years for simple burglary.

Given jail terms were:

P. A. Stockstill, 402 Bres Ave., Monroe, six months for unauthorized use of a movable.

Jerry Lee Carmina, 410 Coleman St., West Monroe, six months for simple burglary, to begin at the date of incarceration.

Henry W. Pratt, Negro, 23, Highway 165 South, Monroe, six months for theft, to begin at time of incarceration.

J. C. Perkins, Rt. 4, Box 78, Pinecrest Road, West Monroe, two years for theft, from date of incarceration.

In other actions, Judge Heard bound over a Swartz woman, Virginia N. Byno, Rt. 3, Monroe, to the Ouachita Parish grand jury on an open charge. A preliminary hearing was held Friday involving shooting at other persons, children, earlier this month.

A motion for a new trail for David Wayne Smith, 103 Jerry St., Monroe, was denied and Smith was remanded until time for sentencing. He had been found guilty of simple burglary earlier this month by a 12-man jury.

Ben Blackmon, no permanent address, was given 60 days in jail for unauthorized use of a movable.

Five persons were fined $300 and costs for driving while under the influence of intoxicatiting beverages. They were Edward Harr, Rt. 1, Baskin; Homer K. Holloway, Jonesboro; Stafford Parker, Cherry Ridge Drive Bastrop; Norman E. Vallery, 1622 S. 7th St., Monroe; and Delmar K. Wykoff, Grambling.

Pleading guilty to theft was Henry Leon Smith, F-28-D Foster Homes, Monroe, who was remanded on bond until Jan. 3. A pre - sentence investigation was ordered in the case.

Charles Edgar Winnon, Bastrop, pleaded guilty to speeding and was fined $25 and costs.

Negro Store Boycott Called In Small Mississippi Town

FAYETTE, Miss. (AP) — A Negro civil rights leader who marshaled a three-month boycott of Natchez, Miss., merchants, called Friday for an economic squeeze on store owners in this Mississippi community.

"I've called for a black Christmas in this town," said Charles Evers, field director of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People.

"With the exception of one supermarket, we're boycotting all stores," said Evers.

"We don't have to take anything less than everything."

Mayor R. J. Allen said "they've got us outnumbered all districts except one."

Negroes in this rural Jefferson County of 10,000 population outnumber whites 3 to 1. There are less than 2,500 whites in the county, which is just north of Natchez.

The demands are similar to the ones sought in Natchez — two Negro policemen, job opportunities, use of courtesy titles and desegregation.

City officials estimated 1,000 Negroes marched Thursday night to demonstrate their demands.

Mayor Allen said, "This town's economy just can't afford another two policemen. We can't even afford one more full time man, but we'll work him in. That's the best I can do."

Fayette has only two policemen. A third does relief work for the other two.

About the marches, Allen said he told his policemen and auxiliary officers not to interfere "as long as they are law-abiding."

Schirra, Stafford Fly Back To Launch Area

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) — Two happy Gemini 6 astronauts flew to Cape Kennedy Friday and personally said "thanks a million" to more than 400 members of the launch team that came to greet them.

Navy Capt. Walter M. Schirra Jr. and Air Force Maj. Thomas P. Stafford landed aboard a silver and white C140 jetstar from Bermuda.

After shaking hands with a host of Air Force and National Space and National Aeronautic and Space Administration officials, the two spacemen, wearing light blue flight suits, stepped up to a microphone and faced the applauding launch team that made their space spectacular possible.

"It was the most perfect launch we ever saw," said Schirra. "Both the Gemini vehicle and spacecraft did the job."

"All I can do is re-emphasize what Wally said," Stafford added. "Thanks a million for all the effort you put out."

Schirra and Stafford plan to stay at Cape Kennedy until Monday, when they will go to NASA's Manned Spacecraft Center in Houston. While at the Cape Kennedy, they will undergo medical checkups and review all phases of their rendezvous mission in detail with project officials.

The launch team — made up of NASA and Air Force personnel plus employes of Martin Co., McDonnell Aircraft Corp., General Electric Co. Burroughs Corp., Aerojet-General Corp., Pan American World Airways and the Radio Corporation of America — was praised by Dr. Kurt H. Debus, director of Kennedy Space Center.

"You have helped to show that rendezvous is possible and have given the nation a better Christmas," the NASA official said.

By getting the Gemini 6 crew into space in such a short time after the Gemini 7 blastoff, the launch team "achieved a very major first' in launch techniques," Debus added.

Schirra and Stafford each were co-pilots on two smaller aircraft earlier today which flew them from their prime recovery ship, the aircraft carrier Wasp, to Bermuda.

Arcadia Captures State Crown By Whipping Central On Firsts

By MILO DAKIN
World Sports Writer

ARCADIA — Arcadia and entral Catholic of Morgan ity battled to a 7 - 7 tie for ie Louisiana Class B football hampionship Friday night, but rcadia took the title with an 2 - 8 margin in first downs.

The two evenly matched eams played to their scoring raw in a steady rain that ampered the throwing abilities f Arcadia's All - State tailack Ronnie Holland, but the alented senior bulldozed his ay for 103 yards on the round and the Hornets' only ouchdown.

It marked the first state hampionship ever for Arcadia, limaxing a 13 - 1 record for oach Jimmy Harrison in his rst year as Hornet mentor.

The Eagles of Morgan City ere depending heavily on the unning of All - State halfback enry Fuselier but it was a rother combination of Joey nd Greg Aucoin that kept Central in field position.

The Eagles' only touchdown, ollowing one play behind Aradia's scoring thrust, was a reg Aucoin to Joey Aucoin ass for 75 yards.

But it was Holland who made e big plays, passing, running nd picking off the only pass nterception of the night, which alted a Central scoring threat ate in the fourth quarter.

The senior back, voted the nost outstanding player in state B football and baseball, ran hrough, around and over the pposition in route to his 103 ards total in 20 carries. Substitute quarterback Tom Loe ran for 72 yards on 15 carries. Combining with Holland for all but 10 of the Hornet's total ground stripes.

At one time in the game, Arcadia led in first downs 8-3 but a late - game comeback by Central edged their statistics up until Holland picked off a Greg Aucion pass with four minutes remaining in the game.

Central edged the Hornets in total yardage, rolling for 136 on the ground and 131 in the air for a 267 - yard total. Arcadia picked up 73 in the air for a 258 yard total.

But on the big plays, a tough Arcadia defense held, alternating a spread and tight formation and sending back four and five pass defenders as Central rained the wet air with passes in the final minutes.

Both teams attempted 15 passes, with Holland hitting on five and Central's quarterback combination of Aucion and Ricky Romaire connecting on only two.

The two completions were both Aucion combinations, the first for 75 yards and the touchdown and the second, coming with just one minute remaining in the game, good for 56 yards to the Arcadia 15 yard line.

But here the Hornets held and took the ball on downs to run out the clock.

Arcadia took the opening kickoff with Holland and Loe hitting the line for a quick first down followed by a 38 yard pass play from Holland to Johnny Durrett.

With a first down on the Central 11 yard line, Loe hit for two and Holland skirted end for seven. Holland then carried the ball across with 7:58 showing in the first quarter.

The point after was kicked by Tom Middleton.

Central bounded back after taking the kickoff, setting up shop on their own 25. Running from a tight formation, Aucoin delayed on the snap, faked to a running back and arched a high wobbly pass to his brother, running alone down the sidelines.

No defender came close as Joey Aucoin padded mud puddles for a 75 yard scoring play. The extra point was run by Fuselier.

Then the rain took over.

After Arcadia failed to move in one series, Central moved into Hornet territory with the assistance of a face mask penalty against the Hornets. But Buzzy Joy let the wet pigskin slip at the end of a 14 yard run and Ricky Poulan recovered the fumble for Arcadia.

Unable to move the ball, the Hornets started a punt exchange with both teams kicking three times, one an Arcadia quick kick that went 43 yards.

The Hornets pushed out a stingy defense in the second half pushing Central for two straight losses before the Eagles punted. Holland then took command, passing and running for the first down, but slippery fingers in the end zone killed an Arcadia touchdown and the bail went over on the Central 17 yard line.

On the third play from Robert Breaux skirted end, found daylight and raced 28 yards before being faked inside and cut down by a Durrett tackle, the only man left.

The Hornets again held on their own 21 yard line and took the ball on down.

Booming punts by Middleton and Aucoin kept both teams deep in their own territory during the early 4th quarter.

With five minutes remaining in the game, Central threatened with free - throwing pass plays, but Holland picked off a short Aucoin toss, ending what appeared as a scoring threat.

As the clock ticked past the two minute warning, Aucoin and Aucoin hooked up for their 56 yard combination that seemed goal mud bound, but a diving block by Larry Henderson pushed the receiving Aucoin across the sideline and the fleet footed end was called back from the end zone after he had gone in standing up.

The Hornets held again, took the ball on downs and ran out the clock with the final play an 11 yard run by Loe for a first down.

Scoring Summary:
Arcadia — Holland 2 yd. run. Middleton kick.
Central — J. Aucoin 75 yd. pass from G. Aucoin. Fuselier run.

Patriots Favored Over Oilers By 7

BOSTON (AP) — The Boston Patriots are, of all things, the avorites in Saturday's American Football League contest with the Houston Oilers.

The nationally televised game s set for 1 p.m., EST, at Fenway Park.

If the Patriots win, and the New York Jets lose to division hampion Buffalo on Sunday, he Boston entry would end in a ie for second place in the Eastrn Division.

The Oilers have faltered badly fter a strong start and have ost six straights. The Pats, in contrast, didn't earn a victory n their first eight games. Now, with three wins and a tie in heir last five games, the Patriots are given the edge over Houston by more than a touchdown.

The Oilers go into the game still suffering from their big upset win over Buffalo on Oct. 31. Houston lost eight starting players to injuries in the clash, and they haven't played since. And Houston hasn't won since.

The Patriots will be bolstered by the return of defensive back Ron Hall and flanker Jim Whalen. If the line play continues to improve, quarterback Babe Parilli may have time to do some effective passing, most of it likely to go in Gino Cappelletti's direction.

Notre Dame Will Build Twin Dome

SOUTH BEND, Ind. (AP) — The University of Notre Dame announced plans Friday for an $8 million athletic and convocation center which will dwarf its 60,000-seat football stadium.

The new twin-domed structure, to be started early next spring and completed in the 1968-69 school year, will have two entirely separate arenas, joined by a central complex housing offices and quarters of the athletic department.

One arena, for basketball and convocations, will seat 12,500. The other will be for track and field and will include an ice rink which probably will send the Irish into varsity hockey.

There will be facilities for indoor baseball, tennis and golf practice and provisions for bowling and a wide variety of intramural sports.

The announcement by the Rev. Theodore M. Hesburgh, Notre Dame president, said the new center also will be offered as a facility for public events, conventions and other gatherings for the entire St. Joseph Valley of Northern Indiana and Southern Michigan.

The building will be 700 feet long, north and south, and 485 feet across. There will be 449,000 square feet of floor space. Each of the twin domes will be 308 feet in diameter and rise 78 feet from the floor.

The present Notre Dame fieldhouse was built 65 years ago, and an addition was made in 1926. Its basketball capacity is only 4,000.

Tigers Work On Timing, Blocking

BATON ROUGE, La. (AP) — A drill that concentrated on timing and blocking occupied Louisiana State Friday as Coach Charles McClendon sent his team through a one hour, 15 minute workout for the Jan. 1 Cotton Bowl football game against Arkansas.

Accustomed to a wet practice field, the squad zipped through the session and finished off the day's work with a series of wind sprints.

LAKE CHARLES (Special) — Northeast sank five free throws in the final three minutes and edged the Cowboys of McNeese State, 65-62, to successfully open defense of its Gulf States Conference crown here Friday night.

The Indians of Coach Lenny Fant had to overcome a seven point deficit 49-42 with 14:35 remaining in the game, to post their seventh straight win of the season.

The two most feared outside men in the conference, little Tommy Enloe and Glynn Saulters, again paced the Tribe to its most important win to date this season.

Enloe, sinking four of eight field goals, was brilliant at the free throw line, making nine of nine for a total of 17 points. Saulters also shot fifty percent from the field, as the Lisbon ace made good on five of 10 field goals and sank eight of 11 charity tosses for 18 points.

The two ball hustlers were the only Northeast squadsmen to hit double figures as Paul Thompson, Chris Rhodes and Billy Brooks all ran into foul and had to play conservatively in the latter stages of the game.

Brooks got off to a hot start, sinking four of seven field goals and one of one free throw to tally nine points. Rhodes, who had four fouls early in the first half, ended the night with only three points, but picked up six rebounds.

Thompson, who led the Indians in rebounding with 15 against Louisiana College Monday night, was again high in the game with nine. The Calhoun star added eight points to help the Indians push.

The Cowboys had three men to hit in double figures with Ellis Boyd heading the list with 17 points. Ed Green followed with 12 points while Ron Buckley added 11.

The game was actually decided at the charity line as McNeese had one more field goal than the Tribe. The 'Pokes had a 21-20 edge from the field, but the Indians hit on 25 of 33 from the free throw line and McNeese managed only 18 of 26 to provide the margin of victory.

Northeast regained the lead it had held throughout most of the first half with 6:45 left in the game on a Ronnie Suggs jump shot to knot the score at 56-54. The two teams traded field goals until the score read 60-60 at 3:03 left. From here Northeast scored five straight free shots while holding the Cowboys with two points in the last second.

The Indians next action comes in the McNeese Holiday Invitational Dec. 28-29.

Lions Trounce Little St. Frederick Badly

With Ouachita strongman, Gary Armstrong, leading the way, the Lions rloled to a 84-36 victory over hapless St. Frederick Friday night in the Warriors' den.

Armstrong, who pumped in 23 points for the night, led the offensive charge that moved to a 49 - 17 halftime advantage with the scrappy Warriors struggling to stay alive.

The Lions got added support from Richard Hill and Dennis Hickey who clipped in 15 each for the Lions, currently enjoying a successful early campaign that has included only four losses.

The Warriors failed to place a man in double figures, but Lynn Accardo came the closest with seven markers on three from the field and one point from the gratis line.

Armstrong hit all but one point of his total from the field.

Ouachita took the girls game, 49 - 40 with Leslie Leath hitting 22 for the lady Lions and Kathy Jones sinking 17 and Mary Ann Lasuzzo 13 for the hosts.

Robert Spicer sank nine to lead the Lions in a B boys win, 27 - 22 with Robert Trudnak sinking 11 for the junior Warriors.

Paul Lowe Comeback Performer

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP) — In 1962, Paul Lowe sat out the American Football League season with a broken arm. Last year, the high-stepping San Diego Charger halfback was lamed by a leg injury.

It should be noted that after both of those frustrations Lowe has merely gone out and chewed up the opposition to the tune of 1,000-yard-plus campaigns.

The Associated Press has acknowledged the AFL's all-time leading runner both times, naming him the junior circuit's comeback player of the year for 1963 and 1965.

"It comes as a total shock," said Lowe, when he learned of the award Friday. "It's a wonderful award to receive."

A healthy Lowe has gained 1,089 yards and needs just 10 more against Oakland Sunday to equal the season record set by the Raiders' Clem Daniels two years ago.

The former Oregon State hurdler is the only man to gain more than 1,000 yards in two different AFL seasons. He gained 1,010 in 1963.

The AFL's All-League halfback has gained 4,234 yards during his career, and at 29 he's out to make up ground lost due to injuries.

He bounced back after falling off to 513 yards a year ago despite a muscle injury that slowed him until the regular season was under way.

One of the last men cut by the National Football League San Francisco 49ers in 1960, Lowe was signed for peanuts by Coach Sid Gillman when the Chargers were formed in Los Angeles.

His salary, of course, is no longer peanuts, but it'll be a big topic when he meets with Gillman for next year.

"I'm ready to start talking contract," said Lowe. "I don't want them giving all the money to the rookies."

Gillman should be inclined to listen.

"Lowe has worked hard," said Sid. "He deserves his success."

Lowe credits weights, the offensive line and John Hadl, his quarterback, for his success.

"The weights have made me stronger, and strength makes me faster.

"I get a big thrill out of running with the football, and John let me run with the ball more than ever before."

Same In Finals

WATERPROOF (Special) — Waterproof and Davidson of St. Joseph advanced teams into the finals in all divisions of the Tensas Parish basketball tournament here Friday night.

Davidson junior girls beat Newellton, 42 - 8 behind Beverly Ford's 20 points.

Waterproof's junior boys scored a 42-14 win over Newellton as Tommy Borin hit 22 for the winners and Ray Garr sank six for the losers.

Davidson dropped Newellton, 50 - 21 in the senior girls game with Sue Green dunking 23 for Davidson.

Waterproof got by Newellton 57 - 36 in the boys game with Tommy Rabb hitting 19, Tru Goldman 12 and Mack Hazlip 10 for the winners and Grady Humphries 16 for Newellton.

In finals Waterproof junior girls meet Davidson at 5 p.m. with junior boys playing at 6, senior girls at 7:30 and boys at 9 p.m.

FRIDAY'S NBA RESULTS

Boston Defeats Detroit 114-112

DETROIT (AP) — John Havlicek's short jumper with 19 seconds remaining enabled the Boston Celtics to nip the Detroit Pistons 114-112 in a National Basketball Association game Friday night.

The victory was Boston's 19th against only eight losses this season and enabled the defending NBA champions to increase their Western Division lead over idle Cincinnati by 1½ games.

The Pistons, who have won only nine of their 28 games, rallied from a three-point deficit in the final three minutes to go ahead 111-110 on baskets by Ray Scott and Joe Strawder. Then after a basket by Sam Jones put Boston in front, Scott tied the game with a free throw to set the stage for Havlicek's winning basket.

Tennessee Rips Tech In Classic

SHREVEPORT, La. (AP) — Tennessee overpowered Louisiana Tech for a 71-55 victory in the opening round of the Gulf South Classic Basketball Tournament Friday night.

Defending champion Virginia Military Institute played host to Centenary in the nightcap.

Tennessee meets the Centenary-VMI winner for the championship tonight.

The Vols used a well balanced attack to cut down the Bulldogs. Four Tennessee starters hit in double figures but surrendered game honors to Tech's Leon Barmore and 6-foot-11 Richard Peek, who got 18 apiece.

Austin Robins led the Vols with 16.

The real story took place in the rebounding department as Tennessee grabbed 45 off the boards to 28 for the taller Tech squad. Tennessee hit 48 per cent from the floor to 46 for Tech for the Vols got more chances.

Tigers Top Ruston From Charity Line

By JIM MATHIS
World Sports Writer

Don't give a Neville Tiger basketball player anything free because the Tigers win games with charity tosses, just as they did Friday night when they took a non - district cage tilt from the Ruston Bearcats 72-59 in Neville Gym.

The Tigers rarely missed from the foul line and dumped in 18 foul shots to beat the Bearcats, who had just as many field goals (27) as did the Tigers, but managed only five points from the charity line.

Neville, with its excellent team balance in all departments, turned another close game into a rout as the Tigers boosted their win streak to ten games without a loss. Neville stands at 10 - 2 for the season.

Four Tigers hit double figures in the scoring column as Chris Turner led with 21, Jay Eppinette, who watched a good deal of the game from the bench, managed 19, Harry Smith, who watched as much as Eppinette, had 12, and Pete Smith contributed ten points.

In the rebound department, Eppinette and Johnny Overton each managed to snag ten caroms.

The game started just as many Neville tilts have this season, with all the earmarks of a battle down to the wire. But Neville led by four points, 20 - 16, at the end of the first quarter, and boosted the lead to ten points, 37 - 27, by halftime.

Gary Heard was the only Bearcat to present stiff opposition to the Tigers, as he connected for 12 points during the first half and another 16 during the final half to finish as the game's high scorer with 28 points.

It was Heard who led a belated rally in the last quarter that began when the Bearcats were trailing 54 - 37 with 7:44 to play. Heard scored 12 points in that final frame and his efforts pulled Ruston no closer than ten points from Neville.

Neville employed its usual winning combination, poise plus ability, to stop the threat and push the lead to its final 15 points.

NATCHITOCHES, La. (AP)— Northwestern State, trailing 41-34 at halftime, opened the second period with a dazzling 12-point burst and went on to whip Southeastern Louisiana Friday night, 83-79.

It was the first Gulf States Conference contest for both squads.

In the first four minutes of the second period, NSC ran up a dozen points before SLC could get untracked. NSC was never again behind after taking a 46-41 lead with 16 minutes left.

NSC's attack never let up until Southeastern was down by 14 points midway in the period.

David Clark was the top Demon with 22 points. Ken Arthur had 20 and Lester Lee 15.

Mississippi Faces Auburn In Liberty

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP) — Bowl veterans Auburn and Mississippi, whose 1965 football seasons were among the most confusing in Southeastern Conference history, clash in the Liberty Bowl football game here today.

Mississippi finished the season on a strong note, with victories over Tennessee and Mississippi State, and is a one touchdown favorite.

The Liberty Bowl, initiated in Philadelphia in 1959 and played last year in Atlantic City, N.J., had never attained financial success and was moved here two months ago.

The game will be played in the new 50,000-seat Memphis Memorial Stadium, and officials expect a crowd of 40,000. The weather forecast is partly cloudy and cool with a possibility of light rain. Kickoff is set for 4:30 p.m. EST.

Auburn has a deceptive 5-4-1 record. The Tigers, coached by Ralph Jordan, lost the SEC championship on the final day of the season by dropping a 30-3 decision to Alabama, for a 4-1-1 conference mark.

The Ole Miss Rebels, after losing three of their first four games, beat five straight SEC foes and finshed with a 6-4 record.

Both teams scored victories over other bowl-bound clubs. Auburn bumped off Florida 28-17 and Ole Miss toppled Louisiana State 23-0 and Tennessee, 14-13. Auburn tied Tennessee 13-13.

Auburn Coach Ralph Jordan and Mississippi Coach John Vaught say their teams are in good physical condition.

Jordan plans to start quarterback Alex Bowden, Carl Hardy at tailback, Jim Bouchillon at wingback and Tom Bryan at fullback.

The showpiece of the Auburn defense is linebacker Bill Cody, a 215-pound senior.

The Ole Miss attack is led by All-SEC halfback Mike Dennis and quarterback Jimmy Heidel. Joining them will be fullback Bobby Wade and wingback Doug Cunningham.

Vaught's outstanding defensive lineman is 240-pound tackle Jim Urbanek, who was named to the All-SEC team.

Auburn's Bryan was the third leading ground gainer in the SEC with 561 yards and a 4.2-yard average. Dennis of Ole Miss was fourth with 525 yards, an average of 3.5 yards per carry.

Auburn ranked second and Ole Miss third in SEC rushing defense, each allowing less than 95 yards per game, but both teams were vulnerable against passes.

The two teams played five common foes during the regular season. Kentucky beat Ole Miss and lost to Auburn. Alabama beat both. Mississippi State lost to both. Florida beat Ole Miss and lost to Auburn. Tennessee lost to Ole Miss and tied Auburn.

This is the ninth consecutive season in which the Rebels have played a bowl game. Under Vaught's guidance, Ole Miss has participated in 13 bowls since World War II.

Auburn has a 2-3 bowl record, and four Tiger bowl teams have been coached by Jordan.

Minden In Victory At Tiger Meet

West Monroe's Larry Beebe reset his own record by running first, but Minden captured the next three places and claimed the championship in the second annual Neville Invitational Cross Country Meet at Forsythe Park Friday.

Beebe, who set the meet record at 9:26.1 as a sophomore last year, chopped almost three seconds off that time by running the 1.9 mile course in 9:23.2.

But Minden's Dolan Cooper ran second in 9:41.6, Wayne DeLong was third at 9:46 and Jeff Chandler finished fourth at 9:47 for the championship honors.

Minden had only those three in the top ten, but it was enough as the Tide took top position in the meet with 42 points.

West Monroe, who was the champion last year to runner-up Minden, placed second with 64 points, Bastrop was fourth at 77, Neville fourth with 87, Ruston fifth at 95, Ouachita sixth with 152.

Beebe received a trophy for his efforts, while the next five finishers were awarded gold medals, the next five silver medals, and the next five in order were awarded with bronze medals.

West Monroe, Neville and Ouachita will join Ruston in a four-way cross country meet at Ruston next Friday over a course that covers two miles.

Italian Keeps Middleweight Ring Crown

ROME, Italy (AP) — Undefeated Nino Benvenuti of Italy retained his world junior middleweight boxing championship Friday night by outpointing the countryman he dethroned, Sandro Mazzinghi, in a 15-rounder in the Sports Palace.

Benvenuti, the Olympic welterweight champion in 1960, won the title from Mazzinghi on a sixthround knockout six months ago in Milan.

Boys Club

The Lakers clipped the Pistons, 19-5 and the Hawks trimmed the Celtics, 16-4 with Jackie Clowers hitting eight for the Lakers and Ronnie Blazier six for the Hawks. Jerry Powell hit three for the Celtics and Al Nicosia sank five for the Pistons.

Homecoming For Chicago Will Be Jolly

CHICAGO (AP) — The 34th annual Chicago Bears homecoming Sunday could be a jollier occasional than usual for this unique reunion of old Halas U.

Footballers who played for Bear owner-Coach George Halas, from his first National Football League club in 1922 up to his most recent graduates, will be Papa Bear's guests during and after the Minnesota Viking-Bear game here.

If the Baltimore Colts lose to the Rams at Los Angeles Saturday and the Green Bay Packers are beaten by the 49ers at San Francisco Sunday, a Bear victory over the Vikings would create a Bear-Packer tie for the NFL's Western Conference title.

Halas lures annually former players from all parts of the country to his season closing party.

Among 100 or more ex-Bears expected is a sizeable group from the 1920-1925 NFL pioneer era. They include such old-timers as Burt Ingwerson, Pete Stinchcomb, Tarz Taylor, Hunk Anderson, Ed Healey, Larry Walquist, Jim McMillen, Earl Britton and Ernie Vick.

Also expected are Tillie Voss, Joe Kopcha, Gene Ronzani, Johnny Sisk, Jack Manders, George Musso, Danny Fortmann, Ray Nolting, Joe Stydahar, Bill Osmanski, George McAfee, Hugh Gallarneau, Ed Sprinkle, George Connor and Bill Wightkin.

Sulphur Knocks Off Knights To Claim AAA State Crown

SHREVEPORT, La. (AP) — Sulphur capitalzed on a pass interception and a fumble recovery to defeat Woodlawn of Shreveport 12-9 in the rain Friday night and win its first state triple-A football title before 12,000 fans.

Sulphur, ranked third in the regular season Associated Press poll, never could muster a long drive but its alert defense took advantage of the only two Woodlawn mistakes.

Sulphur recovered a fumble on a punt to Woodlawn and two plays later Wayne Mouton raced 31 yards for a touchdown as the first period ended. The recovery was made by Ken Viator on the Woodlawn 36.

Woodlawn went ahead 7-6 just before intermission when quarterback Terry Bradshaw drove his team 66 yards in 12 plays. He passed six yards to Tommy Spinks for the marker. Russell Evans converted.

Early in the third period Sulphur's Bill Thomason, back to punt, got a high snap from center and was tackled in the end zone by Woodlawn's Terry Rice for a safety.

Kent Carlin of Sulphur stole a Bradshaw pass on the Woodlawn 33 and ran it back to the nine to set up the go-ahead touchdown which came three plays later on a one yard buck by Jimmy Barton.

Sulphur wound up with 181 yards rushing while Woodlawn got 78.

Sulphur won three state titles in the 30s when it was class A. Sulphur lost to Baton Roge in last year's triple-A finals.

Paige Has Some Reflections About Age For Photo Taker

BALTIMORE (AP) — A newspaper photographer walked up to Satchel Paige and said, "I was told to get your picture and your age."

"You new around here?" Paige deadpanned, squelching another not-too-subtle attempt to trick the ageless baseball wonder into revealing his age.

Paige, who is believed to be about 55 or 60, delights in the cat-and-mouse game, and when nobody else talks about his birthdate, he brings up the subject.

"I was told to stop drinking when I was 50," Paige said, ordering a soft drink at a news conference.

"When was that, Satch?"

"A few years ago."

Paige acknowledged he began pitching in 1929, or 36 years ago. But then added, "Only Bill Veeck and Uncle Sam know my right age." Old Satch pitched for Veeck when he owned the St. Louis Browns and Cleveland Indians.

Satchel was in Baltimore to perform in the baseball routine of the Harlem Globetrotters at the Civic Center Saturday night, but he had a hard time talking basketball.

"I'm pitching better now than I was in 1948," said Paige, who hurled three scoreless innings against the Boston Red Sox last September in a return to the major leagues.

"I'd like to come back again next season," he said, "but I'm not asking anyone for a job. When I was the top pitcher in baseball, nobody wanted me. Anyway, the contract would have to be awful good to beat the one I'm getting for pitching and managing in Anchorage, Alaska."

Asked if he would make other pitchers run if he were coach, Satchel said: "Not if they could pitch without running. I never did any running for 40 years."

Paige showed disgust for the modern players, indicating they were softer than the old timers.

Speaking of pitchers, he said, "If a cat gets rapped hard two or three times, he's looking to the bullpen for help. And he wants to give the ball up before you ask for it."

As for batters, he said "You throw a fast ball and jar a guy's bat, and he gets shin splints in the thumb."

Paige noted batters use lighter bats now, and swing for the fences. But that doesn't phase him on the mound.

"It's the same as swinging a heavy bat," he said. "Some guys swing too soon and some swing too late."

Sid Gillman Not Worried Over Signings

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP) — Coach Sid Gillman said Friday that the San Diego Chargers are not worried about what appears to be a disastrous showing in signing draft picks.

The American Football League's Western Division champs had lost their first six draft picks and Nos. 8 and 9 to the rival National Football League by Thursday. They have signed only No. 10 of the top 10.

NFL signings of the top three San Diego choices were announced Thursday.

Los Angeles State defensive lineman Don Davis, No.1, went to the New York Giants, their No. 1 pick; No. 2, Nick Rassas, Notre Dame defensive back, went to the Atlanta Falcons, their No. 2 pick, and No. 3, Milt Morin, Massachusetts end, went to the Cleveland Browns, their No. 1 choice.

The Chargers have signed their No. 10 choice, Danny Pride, a Tennessee A&I linebacker. The unsigned No. 7 selection is James Tolbert, an end from Lincoln University.

"We don't make a strenuous effort to sign our draft choices every year," said Gillman, who doubles as general manager.

"We've had some fine drafts in the past, and they'll hear from us in the future.

"Remember, we'll be moving into the new stadium for the 1967 season. All I can say about next year is watch out!"

Packers, Bears, Colts Top Western Division Finishers

By MIKE RATHET

NEW YORK (AP) — The National Football League's Western Division race ends this weekend and the order of finish will be:

1—Green Bay.
2—Chicago.
3—Baltimore.

The Packers, picked here to be on top by the end of last week's games, should come through again while the Bears hop over the cut-up Colts.

That's the way the pro picker sees it on his last go-round after last week's 7-4 record brought the over-all record to 85-50-6 for a .630 percentage. Here are this week's winners (all games Sunday unless otherwise noted):

NATIONAL LEAGUE

Los Angeles 35, Baltimore 17 (today) — Neither virus- weakened sub quarterback Tom Matte nor recent acquistion Ed Brown will be able to generate enough offense for the Colts to overcome the suddenly streaking Rams. Baltimore must win or tie to stay alive.

Green Bay 31, San Francisco 28 — Packers can win the title, no matter what Baltimore or Chicago do, by beating the 49ers. With Paul Hornung regaining his Golden Boy status, Green Bay will be tough to beat although the 49ers will be looking to bounce back after last week's crushing 61-20 loss to the Bears.

Chicago 35, Minnesota 21 — The last time the two teams met Gale Sayers displayed his explosive style for the first time, scoring four touchdowns. Sayers will prove too much for the Vikings to handle again. A Baltimore victory today would eliminate the Bears from title contention but they still should have a shot when Sunday rolls around.

Dallas 35, New York 28 — Winner goes to the Playoff Bowl as the Eastern representative. The passing combination of Don Meredith to Bob Hayes figures to outshine the Earl Morrall to Homer Jones team.

Cleveland 28, St. Louis 21 — The Browns had their big letdown last week and will be looking to warm up for the title game. Jimmy Brown also may want to catch Sayers in their battle for the most touchdowns.

Philadelphia 17, Detroit 14 — The two teams haven't met in the regular season since 1961 but the Eagles won 20-17 in an exhibition game. The difference still should be the same.

Washington 31, Pittsburgh 21 — The Steelers having trouble — still. The Redskins are in and out. They were out last week.

AMERICAN LEAGUE

Boston 35, Houston 21—(today) — The Patriots haven't lost in their last three games and figure to close out with a strong finish over the Oilers, who have lost six in a row.

San Diego 35, Oakland 24 — The Chargers have clinched the Western title and should be in for a let down but when the Raiders are the opposition it's a different story. Besides Paul Lowe is within 10 yards of the one-season rushing record of 1,099 — held by Oakland's Clem Daniels.

Buffalo 28, New York 17 — The eastern champion Bill have pride — and too much talent for the Jets. There shouldn't be any letdown here either. This one matches the league's Most Va uable Player, Buffalo's Jac Kemp, vs. Rookie of the Yea Joe Namath in a passing due.

Kansas City 21, Denver 14 — The Chiefs, stunned by death o Mack Lee Hill, will use Curt Mc Clinton at fullback and Be Coan at halfback, and they' want to win this one.

Passing-Minded Hurricane Meeting Vols In Bluebonnet

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — The ulsa Hurricane, which likes to ass because it can cover more round that way, and Tennes- ee, which can pass if it's neces- ary, meet Saturday in the seventh Bluebonnet Bowl football game.

Kickoff time at Rice University Stadium is 2:15 p.m., EST.

Coach Glenn Dobbs says his Tulsa team, with an 8-2 record, will go right on passing with the expectation of winning no matter how high or low the score may be.

Coach Doug Dickey says his Volunteers won't pass too frequently unless it has to. And this was the case in Tennessee's last season game when the Vols couldn't stop UCLA and had to go to the air before winning 37-34.

Thus, the Bluebonnet classic looms as a wide open, swinging affair, with a chance that the record 40 points scored in Kansas' 33-7 victory over Rice in 1961 will be surpassed.

While Tulsa is noted for passing — 427.8 yards per game — and Tennessee is a defensive stalwart, Dickey said "I have been greatly impressed with their defense."

Actually, Tulsa has a better defensive record. It has given up 242.6 yards per game while Tennessee has surrendered 245.6. But its around the goal line where Tennessee shines. Until it played UCLA and got mixed up in a touchdown-trading melee, Tennessee was about the toughest outfit in the country to score on.

Dewey Warren, sophomore quarterback who threw for 274 yards against UCLA, heads the newly-found Vol air strength.

Tennessee will play without defensive end Bobby Frazier and its leading pass receiver, Johnny Mills. Both are out with injuries.

Tulsa has tailback Bob Daugherty and tackle Willie Townes on the injury list. Daugherty won't play but Townes is due to get into the game, although he won't start.

Tennessee lost 14-13 to Mississippi and was tied by Alabama and Auburn during the regular season. Tulsa was defeated by second-ranked Arkansas and Oklahoma State.

Baltimore Reaches Season Showdown

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The altimore Colts reach the show- own point in their bid for a econd straight Western Divi- on title in the National Foot- all League Saturday against e suddenly aggressive but lowly ranked Los Angeles Rams.

A clear afternoon is forecast. A crowd of more than 60,000 is expected in Memorial Coliseum. Game time is 3:25 CST. It will be nationally telecast by CBS with Los Angeles blacked out.

Baltimore must win or tie to stay in the running for the conference title and a meeting with the Eastern loop winners, the Cleveland Browns, Jan. 2.

The Green Bay Packers remain in the picture as the team to catch, and the Chicago Bears can't be counted out.

The Colts trail Green Bay by one-half game in the torrid race.

Baltimore will again play without quarterback Johnny Unitas. He will be on the sidelines, on crutches. Their No. 2 signal caller, Gary Cuozzo, also is sidelined by injuries.

A converted running back, Tom Matte, who has called no more than seven plays at the position as a pro, will attempt to fill the void.

The Rams are firm defenders of last place in the division with a 4-9 record. But they have been impressive winners in their last three games over Green Bay, St. Louis and Cleveland.

They are, in fact, 6½ point favorites to beat the Colts.

Here is the over-all NFL picture:

Saturday, Baltimore at Los Angeles. Sunday, Minnesota at Chicago and Green Bay at San Francisco.

Green Bay is 10-3-0, games behind, none; Baltimore 9-3-1, games behind ½; Chicago 9-4-0, games behind, one.

And quoting NFL public relations director, Jim Kensil, here's what could happen:

"Victory for the Colts would mean Green Bay must win at San Francisco to win to capture its first Western championship since 1962 without a playoff.

"If Baltimore wins and Green Bay ties, the teams would finish even at 10-3-1, and would meet at Green Bay Dec. 26 in a Western playoff.

"If Baltimore ties Los Angeles, Green Bay would need to win or tie for conference title.

"If Baltimore wins and Green Bay loses, the Colts are the winners.

"And then there is Chicago, which has a chance only if both Colts and Green Bay lose and Chicago beats Minnesota. In that case, Green Bay and the Bears would deadlock at 10-4 and would play off at Green Bay Dec. 26."

The Rams are out to avenge a 35-20 loss to Baltimore at Baltimore last Oct. 24. They led 20-14 in the fourth quarter.

Pass-catching flanker end Tommy McDonald reflected the Rams' thinking in relation to the absence of Unitas:

"Honestly, we all wish Unitas could play because we think we can beat Baltimore with him, as great as he is. If we win, and I think we will just like we thought we'd beat Green Bay, people will say we did it with Unitas out."

Roman Gabriel, the quarterback who has reactivated the Rams in their current winning streak, will direct the charge against the Colts.

Baltimore signed as insurance late Thursday quarterback Ed Brown, released on waivers from the Pittsburgh Steelers. Brown is a 12-year journeyman in the NFL.

"Matte is our quarterback," said Baltimore Coach Don Shula.

Matte is best known as a roll-out quarterback at Ohio State some five years ago.

Baltimore has recorded a tie and two defeats in its last three games. Los Angeles, after eight straight losses, is after win No. 4.

Other games Sunday as the NFL regular season ends:

Pittsburgh at Washington, Dallas at New York, Cleveland at St. Louis, Detroit at Philadelphia.

Bears Play Wait Game Primarily

CHICAGO (AP) — Talk about aying the waiting game, the icago Bears will do it front- ards and backwards this osing weekend of the National ootball League season.

Nursing a chance to tie for the FL's Western Conference title, e Bears will know by nightfall aturday, or by nightfall Sun- y, whether they will earn a adlock with the Green Bay ackers.

If the crippled Baltimore olts upset the last-place, but vored Los Angeles Rams Sat- day at Los Angeles, the Bears n forget the whole thing — n, lose or draw against the innesota Vikings here Sunday.

Then, the title debate is strict- between the Colts and Pack- s, whose finale Sunday with e 49ers at San Francisco will ind up some two hours after e Viking-Bear game ends.

However, if the Colts and ackers lose on the West Coast, d the Bears beat the Vikings, en Chicago and Green Bay ould finish at 10-4 and a play- f for the title at Green Bay ec. 26.

"It would be wonderful if all pieces fell into the proper aces for us this very interest- g weekend," Bear President eorge Halas Jr. said Friday.

"It would actually be a shame r our team to come up dry, aybe even winding up down in ird place, after the way they ve played."

The Bears, 9-4, have won nine their last 10 games after opping their first three starts all on the road.

The Vikings, 6-7, appear Sun- y with painful recollection of e Bears' belated blastoff, par- cularly amazing rookie half- ck Fale Sayers, at Blooming- n, Minn., Oct. 17.

Sayers' fourth touchdown of at game, a 96-yard scoring rint with a kickoff, nudged the llying Bears ahead 38-37 with o minutes left and they won -37.

Sayers' net yardage of 297 on runs, receptions and run- cks was a resounding tipoff of greater feat to come for the ansas Comet.

That was Sayers' fantastic x-touchdown performance in st Sunday's 61-20 Bear hug of e 49ers which tied an NFL ngle game record and set a ason touchdown mark of 21.

Sayers' net of 336 yards via shing, pass catching and punt turns also was the best single ame effort in NFL history.

Rain Dampens Arkansas Work

BROWNSVILLE, Tex. (AP) — Rain prevented the Arkansas Razorbacks from trying their passing game Friday as they held their first practice session for their Jan. 1 encounter with Louisiana State in the Cotton Bowl.

"We cut practice short about 15 minutes when it started coming down in more than a mist," Arkansas Coach Frank Broyles said. "It cut down on our passing we wanted to do today. Midway during the practice, it got too wet to throw the ball. We just concentrated on the running.

"It was very obvious that we were rusty in movements and not as active as we should be."

Deny Dooley Has Accepted Sooner Job

NORMAN, Okla. (AP) — University of Oklahoma officials denied reports Friday that Georgia Coach Vince Dooley has accepted an offer to take the Sooner football coaching job.

"I don't expect to hear from Dooley until Saturday," said Oklahoma President George L. Cross. "It's possible that we'll know something by tonight, but I don't expect it."

In Atlanta, Ga., Cross' prediction was second by Joel Eaves, University of Georgia athletic director.

"No decision will be announced until Saturday," Eaves said after a series of meetings with Dooley. "There may be something Saturday."

Eaves said he will meet again with Dooley at Athens, Ga., where the university is located.

Cross and other university officials insisted that no formal offer has been made. However, it was believed that some tentative offer was discussed when Dooley visited Oklahoma to discuss the vacancy.

"There are some things he'll (Dooley) want to explore," Cross said. "Knowing what I know about this kind of situation, it takes time to make a decision."

Dr. Mark Johnson, vice president of the OU Board of Regents and a member of the nine-member screening committee set up to interview applicants, said "Mr. Dooley was evidently making a statement clarifying his avilability for the position."

"This is a necessary step before the formal offer can be made," he said. He added that "no contract conditions have been stipulated at this time."

TROJAN FOOTBALL players who were recipients of individual awards at their annual grid banquet recently. The session dealt mainly with the kicking game. There was no contact.

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — The hot passing due expected between Tulsa's Billy Anderson and Tennessee's Dewey Warren in Saturday's Bluebonnet Bowl may be cooled off by the weather.

A chilly drizzle and light showers have fallen in Houston since the middle of the week and no let up is forecast until long after the game is over.

Bitter Strife Ends With Agreement Between Company, Auto Workers Union

MILWAUKEE, Wis. (AP) — The Kohler Co., and the United Auto Workers Union ended 11½ long years of bitter strife Friday with the company agreeing to pay $4.5 million in back pay and pensions.

The awards stemmed from an acrimonious six-year strike which became a classic in the annals of American labor. The struggle was marked by violence, controversy that tore apart family ties, and by a union-sponsored nationwide boycott of goods produced by the sprawling Kohler, Wis., plumbingware plant.

Central characters in the long feud, Emil Mazey, UAW secretary-treasurer, and Lyman C. Conger, Kohler vice president and general counsel, sealed the pact with a handshake at the end of a news conference following the signing.

Then, as evidence of what Mazey called "a new day in labor relations with the Kohler company," they announced agreement on a new labor contract to be submitted to the union membership Saturday night.

"Now, we can look forward to going ahead with more constructive things," said Conger.

Terms of the complete and final agreement were worked out in a series of sessions that came to a head at the AFL-CIO convention in San Francisco earlier this week. The conditions are subject to approval by the National Labor Relations Board and the U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals in Washington, before which a contempt action against the firm still is pending. Dismissal will be sought.

Approximately 1,400 former strikers will receive a total of $3 million back pay in individual amounts ranging up to $10,000. Restoration of pension rights will account for another $1.5 million.

UAW Regional Director Harvey Kitman of Milwaukee, the third principal in Friday's news conference, said the agreement had "built the kind of understanding that will make it possible to have a good friendly feeling for a long time to come."

And Mazey added, "We will do everything we can to erase the bitter past so far as possible." He said the strike had cost the UAW $12 million in strike benefits alone.

The "bitter past" dates back to April 5, 1954 yhen members of Local 833, accusing the family-owned Kohler firm of union-busting tactics, walked out.

Union security was the main issue. Arbitration machinery, seniority rights and wages were secondary items.

The sprawling plumbingware factory remained closed for eight weeks as pickets marched at plant gates in increasing numbers. The company obtained an injunction banning mass picketing, then opened the gates in a recruitment drive.

That was the signal for the first of what later became sporadic outbreaks of violence. Incidents ranged from fist fights to full-scale rioting with more than 300 arrests. The biggest battle involved efforts to block the unloading of shipments of clay aboard Norwegian vessels and consigned to the Kohler plant.

The company listed over 1,0 acts of vandalism which it s were connected with the st including damage to a constr tion project being built for t firm at Sheboygan, Wis.

In one of the most spectacul beating cases, three UAW mem bers from Michigan we charged with felonious assau on a 65-year-old nonstriker a his son.

Fireside Christmas Dance Entertains Zeta Tau Alphas

Zeta Delta Chapter of Zeta Tau Alpha Fraternity hosted a Christmas Fireside Dance at Bancroft Camp on Saturday, December 11. Heralding the gala event, bright handmade invitations were received by members, pledges, and alumni. These were miniature Christmas trees decorated with baubles and gold printing.

As guests arrived at the camp they were greeted by a mammoth red Christmas stocking suspended on the front door laden with packages bearing a happy greeting and inviting them to dance. Miss Rachel Dillon presided over the guest book placed on a green covered table with ZTA written in red ribbon.

The lodge featured a floor to ceiling Christmas tree with varied colored lights and, in place of baubles, colorful Santa Claus mugs inscribed with the letters ZTA were hung with red and green ribbons from the branches. These mugs were later presented as favors to each of the guests.

The tremendous double fireplaces were draped in garlands of fresh pine interspersed with holly. Each mantel was lined with red roped tapers placed among magnolia foliage and tied with wide red satin bows.

The beams across the lodge's ceiling were wound with garlands of pine boughs tied with large red satin bows. The band stand was backed with a large silver plaque bearing the turquoise and gray crest of the sorority.

A long refreshment table covered with red cloths and centered with red and green hurricane lamps held earthen ware crocks of cider, hot chocolate and coffee. Miss Becky Parkerson and Alice Haynes served the guests refreshments throughout the dance. Marshmallows were toasted at the open fireplaces during intermission.

Dear Abby

Salvation Army Kettle Christmas Eve Symbol

DEAR ABBY: Last year a rather humorous letter appeared in your column from a little boy who was "confused" about Santa Claus. He said he saw a short, fat Santa in one of the stores, and a few minutes later he saw a tall, thin Santa standing on the street corner beside a large kettle, ringing a bell for the Salvation Army. The boy was indeed confused. But not more so than some adults.

For 72 years the "kettle" has been the symbol of the Salvation Army's Christmas appeal. OUR kettle is always manned by a man or woman wearing the uniform of the Salvation Army, NEVER a Santa outfit!

A small matter, perhaps, but we want all those who wish to help the needy at Christmastime through the Salvation Army to know WHICH fund-raisers represent us. Sincerely,

ANDREW S. MILLER
MAJOR: SALVATION ARMY

DEAR MAJOR MILLER: I appreciate your letter. And perhaps my readers would like to know the interesting story of how the "kettle" became the symbol of your sidewalk Christmas appeal. On Christmas eve, 1894, survivors of a shipwreck off the rocky coast of San Francisco were brought to the Salvation Army for shelter. California, along with the rest of the nation, was gripped by a depression. The Salvation Army was already caring for thousands of impoverished seamen and longshoremen. When the food ran out, an ingenious lassie picked up a soup kettle and stepped out into the bitter cold. At a busy street corner she set up a sign, "KEEP THE POT BOILING." Through the generosity of passersby, that night there was soup for all. Word of the unique appeal spread to other Salvation Army posts, and it soon was adopted by them all — and it has ever been thus.

DEAR ABBY: Why is there so much sickness today? Everywhere you go, someone has a virus, back trouble, or an allergy or something. Back in the olden days, like say in Biblical times, they never heard of ulcers, diabetes or high blood pressure. And no one ever dropped dead of a heart attack. Why?

CURIOUS

DEAR CURIOUS: In Biblical times, most men, women and children didn't survive long enough to contract ulcers, diabetes or high blood pressure. And considering that our bodies were not designed to withstand fallout, sonic booms, carbon monoxide, executive board meetings and countless other by-products of civilization, I think modern man is doing splendidly.

DEAR ABBY: I am heartsick, and hope you will publish this letter as a warning to other brides who are tempted to make the mistake we made.

Our daughter was married in August, and all who attended said they had never seen a more beautiful wedding. My daughter's fiance had a college friend who was supposed to be an expert amateur photographer, and he offered to take the pictures. The formal sittings as well as candid shots of the wedding, reception, etc. This friend came with cases full of equipment, poles, lights and half a dozen different kinds of cameras. (Others who knew something about photography said he had a "fortune" in equipment.) Well, this man took the pictures all right, but not one of them turned out. He said something was "wrong" with his film! Now the occasion is passed and we don't have one picture of it, not ONE! Please tell other brides, if "friends" offer to take pictures, let them. But just to be on the safe side, HIRE a professional, too.

PATRICIAN PINOCHLE

Until the invention of printing, playing cards were almost exclusively the property of the rich and noble - born, the U.S. Playing Card Co. reports.

The wealthy would commission leading artists to prepare decks especially for them and their families. The work in some of these old decks was of surpassing artistry and skill, comparing with other examples of Renaissance art.

Homegrown Yule Tree Decorative All Year

Dear Folks:

For those who like the tiny Christmas trees, why don't you consider going to a garden shop or nursery each year, and buying a real, live tree with a ball of soil on the bottom?

All you have to do is set this in your planter, or a big flower pot. You can be sure it won't die as cut trees do.

Later, you can plant the tree in your yard, and have something that will live on — for your money.

One of our friends just left hers in a planter by the door step all through the year, and when the next Christmas rolled around . . . she used it again!

I think it would be kinda nice to look out into your yard, and know THAT tree was bought in 1965. Then, you can recall all the good things that happened that Christmas day.

Heloise

ear Heloise:

Another use for old, clean socks:

While painting, I slip an old sock on my left hand (I'm right handed), and wipe up spills as I go.

Saves stopping to look for the wipe-up-rag.

Mrs. Charles Johnson

Dear Heloise:

If you have a deep drawer in your stove, put a dishdrainer in it, and pot covers can be filed in this!

No trouble getting the covers in or out.

If there is no deep drawer in your stove, how about using a dishdrainer in the cupboard?

Edith Demby

Dear Heloise:

When I buy dresses with the long loops to hold them on hangers, I cut the loops off 'til they are just two inches long, sew a snap on the ends, and they hold my shoulder straps in place.

Sometimes I leave them long enough to tie, instead of sewing on snaps.

Mrs. Olsen

Dear Heloise:

Try hanging small picutres on louvered folding doors, by using Christmas tree ornament hangers.

I have an eight-foot pantry with these doors, and a few picutres, placques, etc., really made it a conversation piece.

Kitty McLamb

And Kitty . . .

During the holidays you could use the hangers to decorate the louvered doors with Christmas cards.

Heloise

Dear Heloise:

Please rush the word to wives whose husbands are on night shift, to heat half a can of soup, and pour it into a thermos bottle before they go to bed.

Then, when tired hubby comes home from a hard, long day (anywhere from midnight to 4:00 a.m.) . . . he can pour himself a bowl of hot soup, for a just-right snack, before he goes to bed.

Dorothy Heter

Dear Heloise:

A pipe cleaner is perfect for cleaning the inside of the plastic or glass tubes used by patients for drinking.

Helen Lenz

Dear Heloise:

As I am one of those persons who does not like to wear shoes without hose, I find I need a large hose budget — which gets pretty expensive at times.

I solved this, in part, by utilizing those hose with runs, mended spots, holes in mesh hose, etc., by tying together those so damaged. Then, at a glance, I can select them to wear with slacks, and leave the better ones for skirts.

Loa B. Baldwin

Dear Heloise:

I bored holes through the ends of two clip-type clothespins, knotted a string through each hole, and hung the string over a towel rack.

The pins make an ideal place for drying rubber gloves.

UMBRELLA NEWS

Let it rain when you have something dubbed the "rainpiper." The manufacturer says it is the first polypropylene umbrellas, molded in a one-piece frame. Fashion appeal is molded into the new umbrellas through the frames, with dramatic visual contrast to the current metal frames. "It's the first major advance in umbrella construction and material since the folding steel frame was introduced in France during the 18th century," said a spokesman for the maker.

CHICKEN LICK'EN

Equal parts of oil and lemon juice, plus garlic, make a good marinade for chicken that is to be broiled. The garlic may be crushed, or it may be peeled and halved.

Safe Yule Tree Meets Standards Of Wetness Test

Green, moist Christmas trees reduce the fire hazard. A new preservative formula that you can make at home has been discovered to lengthen the indoor life of Christmas trees and keep them looking greener and fresher longer.

The formula doubles the indoor life of most cut evergreens and also improves greenness in many cases, said Harold C. Cook, Dixon, Ill., florist and discover of the preservative.

Cook said the preservative formula is — add to 1 gallon of boiling water: 4 teaspoons of a chlorinated household bleach; 2 cups of simple syrup; 4 tablespoons micronized Iron (available at most garden supply stores, florists, or hardware stores).

Before placing the tree in the holder, saw a fresh cut in the base of the trunk. Chop into the cut with an axe, or use a hammer to crush the fibers.

Place this hot solution into the tree holder carefully and allow the tree to stand in this solution about 12 hours before decorating. As the solution is absorbed, add tap water that has been warmed to room temperature, stir as added and keep tree holder filled at all times.

Cook pointed out that the combination of crushed fibers and the hot perservative will increase capillary action and enable the tree to get immediate and full benefits from the solution.

He recommended the use of large tree holders that contain at least a gallon of water. The same formula can be used to preserve cut evergreen boughs arranged in containers of water.

GOOD GRAVY

A suspicion of caramel syrup (made by melting and browning granulated sugar) is fine to use in gravies.

Around The World

Launches Satellite

MOSCOW (AP) — The Soviet Union launched No. 100 in its Cosmos series of unmanned earth satellites Friday the Soviet news agency Tass announced. The first in the series, described as intended to study conditions in space, was orbited March 16, 1962.

9 Indians Killed

RAWALPINDI, Pakistan (AP) — Nine Indian soldiers were killed in clashes on the cease-fire line in the past two days, a Pakistani spokesman said Friday.

Typhoid Fever

PARIS (AP) — Nineteen cases of typhoid fever have been diagnosed in the Paris suburb of Conflans Sainte Honorine, health authorities reported Friday. All were described as mild with the patients recovering normally. A communique from the suburb's mayor said the water supply may have been polluted by a break in a main. An investigation is under way.

Lord Ismay Dies

LONDON (AP) — Lord Ismay, who served as Winston Churchill's wartime military adviser, died Friday night at his home at Broadway, Worcestershire, after a short illness. He was 78.

Gen. Lord Ismay was a soldier, statesman and diplomat — a man who knew most of the secrets of World War II. He had already enjoyed a life of romance and adventure before achieving prominence in political life.

Ismay was at the prime minister's side in many conferences of the wartime allies. He was then Sir Hastings Ismay.

Kremlin Support

MOSCOW (AP) — Premier Alexei N. Kosygin pledged Friday that the Soviet Union would go on helping anti-American forces in South Viet Nam until the United States is defeated there.

Visiting Algerian strong man Houari Boumedienne contended that the Viet Cong must be represented at any peace negotiations and that "any solution must be based on the demands advanced by (North Vietnamese Premier) Pham Van Dong."

These include evacuation of South Viet Nam by U.S. troops before peace talks begin — a demand rejected by the United States.

In Antarctica

WASHINGTON (UPI) —An advance party has landed on a windy 11,500-foot ice plateau in Antarctica to begin work on this country's bleakest and most remote scientific outpost.

The National Science Foundation reported Friday that the party of scientists and Navy men landed on the icecap at 2:48 a.m. EST Tuesday in a ski-equipped Navy cargo plane after a 1,150-mile flight from McMurdo, the main U.S. base on the southern continent.

When the plateau station is established, it will be manned by four scientists and four Navy men. The site is about 30 miles from the South Pole in the general direction of Madagascar in the Indian Ocean.

201 Cubans Arrive

MIAMI (UPI) — A record 201 refugees flew in on the Cuban airlift Friday, raising the 1,625 the total number landed since the exile air shuttle began Dec. 1.

The airlift, operating five days a week, suspended until next Monday.

Total arrivals this week were 939, compared to 424 last week and 262 the previous week.

Meanwhile, 11 Cuban men — most of them fishermen — who fled the island in a boat said the Castro regime has built special concentration camps for Cuban youths opposing the Communists.

Blizzards Hit Japan

TOKYO (AP)—A cold wave and blizzards hit most of Japan Friday, disrupting air, sea and land services.

In northern waters, five additional fishermen were reported missing in rough seas, bringing the total number of missing since last Sunday to 65. The Maritime Safety Agency said the five disappeared when they were thrown overboard while operating in the sea off the northern Kurile Islands.

Berlin Wall Opens

BERLIN (UPI) —The Communists will open the Berlin wall Saturday for the first time in six months to allow West Berliners to visit relatives in East Berlin during the Christmas holidays. The wall will be slammed shut again on Jan. 3.

It marks the sixth time the wall has been opened for one-way holiday traffic since the Communist barricade was erected on Aug. 13, 1961. Residents of the Communist zone still will be barred from leaving.

About 800,000 West Berliners have received Communist-issued passes valid from 7 a.m. to midnight on two specific days under an agreement signed last month by the West Berlin city government and the East German regime.

20,000 Missing

DACCA, East Pakistan (AP) —Gov. Abdul Monem Khan of East Pakistan said Friday 750 persons are missing or dead after Wednesday's cyclone along the east coast. Unconfirmed reports put the figure far higher.

Khan said 250 bodies actually had been counted. The government-controlled Daily Pakistan said 6,000 bodies had been recovered from the densely populated area around Cox's bazar. It estimated 20,000 persons are missing.

Communists Wanting Africa, Smith Declares

SALISBURY, Rhodesia (AP) — Prime Minister Ian Smith said Friday "the Communists want Africa" and are working against cooperation between Rhodesia and her northern neighbor Zambia.

Interviewed in his office, Smith said the Communists "have had great success in many countries north of us."

"It is interesting to note that those countries which severed relations with Britain in the last day or two were the countries which most openly espoused communism," he continued.

Among the countries breaking with Britain for refusing to crush Smith's white regime are the United Arab Republic, Ghana, Tanzania and Guinea. Smith broke with Britain and declared Rhodesia's independence last month after refusing British demands that the African majority be given an ultimate voice in the government.

"I think it shows us the alignment and, quite frankly, I believe that the Western world should welcome what has happened," Smith said. "We have made it clear we will have nothing to do with communism. This is a bastion against the march of communism.

"The funny thing about it is that we find the great Western democracies who are supposed to be fighting against communism are fighting against us today."

Smith said he did not regard as inevitable a confrontation at the Zambesi River on the border between Rhodesia and Zambia.

"We have always got on well in days gone by," he asserted. "We have always been closely associated, always had strong economic links simply because this is natural. I believe and hope we will return to those conditions. I will say international communism is working against any such reconciliation."

Asked if talks between the leaders of Rhodesia and Zambia are a possibility, Smith said:

"This is a difficult question to answer at the moment. We have always been ready for talks. We have always communicated with the Zambian government. I regret to say we haven't had the same cooperation from north of the Zambesi. So this is really a question for them to answer, not for me."

President Kenneth Kaunda of Zambia has demanded that British troops enter Rhodesia to take over the Kariba power station, which supplies electricity to the Zambian copper mines.

Asked if some form of neutralization for the power complex would be acceptable to Rhodesia, Smith said:

"First of all I think one would have to be convinced that there was a need for this and that this was the right decision. Until this has been proved I don't see that a case exists."

Smith said he was "prepared to listen to anything reasonable" but at the moment "there is no reason for doing the sort of thing you referred to. Kariba is in the safest possible hands."

Would he be prepared to negotiate with Prime Minister Harold Wilson of Britain on the independence issue?

Stock Mart Is Mixed In Heavy Tradings

NEW YORK (AP) — Despite strength in rails and steels, the stock market backed away from an early advance and ended mixed Friday. Trading was heavy.

Volume was 9.46 million shares.

The Dow Jones industrial average took a loss of 1.28 at 957.85 after backing away from an advance of 2.28 in the first hour when the indicator read 961.41—a shade below the historic closing high of 961.85.

It was the second straight day that the average had dallied with a possible new closing record but failed to hold up by the final bell.

Steels continued their rally, most of them advancing moderately. They were spurred this time by reports of rising orders from the automakers and the railroads. Rails continued to advance, making record highs in both the Dow Jones and Associated Press rail averages. They were helped by reports of good earnings and warming merger prospects which would presumably enhance profits further.

November gains in personal income and housing starts were other encouraging factors but a slight decline in new orders for durable goods also was reported.

The early leadership by steels and rails failed to attract much of a following among key stocks and, when this was apparent, traders began to pull back in usual pre-weekend caution. Meanwhile, many of the recent high-flyers among aerospace, color television and airline stocks took a rest.

A report of another Viet Nam peace feeler seemed to have no immediate effect on the market which was pursuing a mixed and confused trend at the time.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks dipped .3 to 356.2. Industrials fell 2.5, rails advanced 1.8 to their record high and utilities lost .5.

Of 1,416 issues traded, 627 rose and 536 fell. New highs for the year totaled 121 and new lows 40.

Standard & Poor's 500-stock index, which represents about 85 per cent of the quoted value of stocks listed on the New York Stock Exchange, declined .04 to 92.08.

Among the 15 most active stocks there were six gainers and six losers, with three issues unchanged.

Alleghany Corp. was the most active stock, unchanged at 13½ on 315,500 shares. An early block of 250,000 shares contributed the lion's share to its volume.

Lukens Steel, up 4½, and KLM Airlines, up 4⅜, were the biggest gainers on the most-active list. American Machine & Foundry was second most active, unchanged at 20½, on 309,900 shares of which 233,000 came in a single block.

Jones & Laughlin and Republic Steel each rose 1⅛ while U.S. Steel added ⅝ and Bethlehem ⅞.

All Big Three motors gained fractions.

Among rails, Pennsylvania rose 1⅛, Illinois Central 1½, Kansas City Southern 1⅝ and New York Central ½.

Talon rose 2⅛ as it upped its dividend and proposed a 2-for-1 stock split. TRW Inc. raised its dividend and the stock gained 1¼. Dayco slipped ⅝ despite a higher dividend.

Walt Disney was off ¾ although it was awarded a preliminary permit to develop a $35 million dollar ski resort in Sequoia National Forest 225 miles north of Los Angeles.

U.S. Smelting advanced 3¼, Douglas Aircraft 2⅝ and International Nicke 1¼. Du Pont lost 2¼, Union Carbide 1⅛, United Aircraft 1⅞, General Electric 1⅜ and Xerox 1⅛.

Prices were irregular on the American Stock Exchange. Volume was 4.48 million shares. Noramco was very active and up 3⅛ at 8½. Fotochrome rose 2⅜, Massey-Ferguson 2¾ and Pyle National 2½. Syntex lost 9 points.

Corporate bonds were mixed. U.S. Treasury bonds were mostly unchanged.

Cotton Closes Unchanged In Light Trades

NEW YORK (AP)—Cotton futures closed unchanged to $1.25 a bale higher Friday.

There was light activity in nearby May contracts late in the session.

Spot cotton markets were quiet.

The Census Bureau reported November domestic cotton consumption was 750,960 running bales. This was slightly better than trade expectations of 745,000 bales.

Schlesinger May Get Top Position

NEW YORK (AP) — Arthur M. Schlesinger Jr., aide to the late President John F. Kennedy, is being considered for a top-salaried professorship at City University, it was disclosed Friday.

"This is not definite yet," said Chancellor Albert H. Bowker. "We are discussing it with Prof. Schlesinger and the regents at this time."

The post carries a total state legislative appropriation of $100,000, but that must cover the professor's salary, his travel, staff and research assistants.

Bowker noted that the $100,000 "is not a salary to any individual."

The legislature appropriated the money for the Albert Schweitzer Chair in Humanities, one of 10 such posts in New York universities.

Two of the chairs have been filled with the appointment of physicist C. N. Yang to the State University at Stonybrook and Conor Cruise O'Brien, former United Nations official, to New York University.

Grain Futures Firmer With Slow Trading

CHICAGO (AP) — Moderately active buying firmed nearly all commodities in rather slow trading most of the time in the grain futures market.

Brokers credited the support largely to speculative accounts in wheat, to exporters in corn and to processors and other cash dealers in soybeans.

They said speculators who had sold short or liquidated during the wheat sell-off were among the active buyers. Bookings of corn for export were understood to have been heavy.

Wheat closed ⅞ to 1½ cents a bushel higher, December $1.63½-⅝; corn ½ to 1⅜ higher, December $1.24⅜-½; oats ¼ lower to ¼ higher, December 72⅛-72 cents; rye ½ to ⅞ higher, December $1.22¾; soybeans ½ to 2¼ higher, January $2. 4¼-⅛.

What is the penalty for drawing unemployment compensation while attending college?

If wage credits are earned while attending college, and that person is available for work during the same time period the wage credits were earned, then he is allowed unemployment compensation while in school, providing he meets other required standards. If the wage credits were not earned while a person was attending school, then that person is not eligible for unemployment compensation. The penalty, as outlined by the Louisiana State Employment Service in Monroe, would place that person in an "over paid" bracket, whereby the amount drawn while ineligible would have to be reimbursed before any further compensation would be paid.

My husband has made a will leaving everything to me at the time of his death, even though we have a son over 21. By law, will this son share in my husband's estate, even though he is not mentioned in the will?

Yes, he will. Under Louisiana's unique forced heirship law, a single child of a deceased person is entitled to a specified portion of the estate.

What are the requirements for a stepfather to adopt his 17-year-old stepson? The father is in another state and will not give his consent, yet he has never contributed to the support or welfare of the boy. Is there any way the boy can obtain his driver's license without the adoption?

Our lawyer advised us that adoption proceedings in the State of Louisiana must go through the court. The consent of both natural parents, if both are living, is needed. This seems impossible in your case, unless the boy's real father changes his mind. A spokesman at the Louisiana Driver's License Division at Selman Field said anyone proving to be the boy's legal guardians can sign papers for his driver's license.

Does the City of Rayville have any future plans for improvements on the existing main streets?

If the Chicago Mill Game Reserve is for all hunters, why is there a locked gate and only a select few with a key? If anyone can have a key, where can one be obtained? Who is in charge of the game reserve and what is his address?

Officials say there is no locked gate on the Chicago Mill property. The gate in question is on private land owned by Scott Plantation, and those who have keys are men with private camps in that area. The Louisiana Wildlife and Fisheries Commission manages the Chicago Mill, and have a parish supervisor, Renford Williams of Tallulah.

If a woman is in her mid-fifties and is unable to work, is she able to draw her social security before the age of 62, even though she has a husband with a small income?

If you are disabled, this may be possible. Such questions should be taken up with the local branch of the U. S. Social Security Administration which has just moved to a Tower Street address. In general, if you have social security credit for at least five years in the 10-year period ending when you become disabled, you have enough work to qualify for disability insurance benefits. The amount of your monthly disability insurance payment is the same as the amount of the old-age insurance benefit you would get if you were already 65.

We pay 22½ mills on school maintenance and school building taxes in the City of Monroe. There were bond issues in 1929, 1950, 1955, 1961 and 1965. When will the 1929 tax be paid off or has it been paid already. If it has, why does it appear on the tax notices?

A check with Mel Cook, Monroe city treasurer shows that the 1929 school bond issue was for a 40-year duration and will be paid off in 1969.

The 1950 issue was for 25 years, going off the books in 1975.

The 1955 issue is a 20 year issue, also scheduled to go off the books in 1975.

The 1961 tax, also for 25 years, will be retired in 1986.

The 1965 issue will run through 1990, being a 25-year issue.

Each year the treasurer's office is responsible for pro-rating the amount of millage needed to pay the premiums on the tax revenues, both the school and municipal issues. The books show that the payment is reduced each year with the interest showing the reduction. However, the principal remains the same.

Was the Soviet Union a member of the United Nations in 1950? If so, weren't they obligated to fight in Korea along with other U.N. forces? Why didn't they?

The U.S.S.R., like the United States, Britain, France and China, is a charter member of the United Nations. They were indeed members at the outbreak of the Korean war in 1950 and would seem to have been obligated by conscience to go along with the decision to fight in Korea. They did not, however, and there was no means to force them to do so.

Probably the only reason the U.N. ever voted to enter the conflict in the first place was because of the absence of the Soviet delegation on the day the vote was taken to resist the North Koreans. If they had been present and voting, they would surely have vetoed the action and blocked U.N. participation in the war.

How may I find an out-of-state job?

You don't say in which state you are interested or what type of job you want. There are state employment services in every state so you might contact them. Or you can contact an employment agency with national affiliation. Or you might determine what company out-of-state you want to work for and write to them directly.

I read recently in a book that Stalin (the late Soviet dictator) was a Georgian? What does this mean? Surely he's not from Georgia.

There is a Soviet state called Georgia in the Southern part of the Soviet Union. It is located between the Black Sea and the Caspian Sea. There is some dispute about which town Stalin was born in but it was in Georgia at any rate. Stalin himself claimed to be a native of Gori—in Georgia. But you're right, it's not Georgia, U.S.A.

Is the word Celt or Celtic pronounced with a "k" sound or an "s" sound? I've heard it pronounced both ways.

According to the Britannica World Language Dictionary, both are acceptable but the "s" sound is listed first. This applies, however, only if talking about the early peoples of the British Isles. If you have occasion to refer to another meaning which is a primitive weapon of stone or bronze, only the "s" sound is correct.

One letter simply stands for another. In this sample A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophes, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.

Trash Burning Warning Issued

Residents were warned Friday by Monroe fire department officials against burning leaves or trash inside the city limits.

The municipal fire code prohibits the burning of leaves, trash, or any other item, either inside or out of the garbage barrels or incinerators, C. W. Flacy, head of the fire prevention bureau, said Friday.

The bureau asked the full cooperation of the public, pointing that in addition to the fire hazard which such actions causes, it is also often detrimental to the health of neighbors. "The smoke in many cases causes trouble for other residents, especially if they are suffering from asthma or other bronchial illnesses," Flacy said.

The Monroe fire code provides a fine of not less than $100 or jail term of not less than 30 days for violations, he warned.

Committees Give Ideas On Building

CROSSETT, Ark. (Special)—The Ashley County Courthouse Planning Committee has issued a report on recommendations from its sub-committees.

The sub-committee on site location recommends that first priority for construction of a new courthouse building be given to the present courthouse location in Hamburg. The committee adopted a resolution that a new courthouse for the county be constructed if possible at the site of the present courthouse building, and if that site is found unsuitable then that the building be erected upon some more suitable site near the geographical center of the county.

Following this action the full committee instructed the building sub-committee acting with the county judge and general committee chairman to determine the employment of an architect and develop preliminary recommendations as to the location of a new jail and as to the suitability of the present site based upon the parking and floor space requirements.

The site location sub-committee was instructed to make a study and report to the full committee its recommendations as to other government offices which could or should be housed in a new courthouse building.

The plans committee was instructed to proceed on the assumption that space for automatic data processing machines for tax assessment and collection records and micro-film machine for preservation of county records would be included in the plans.

The full committee plans to meet again early in February to consider and act upon the reports of the sub-committees.

Preliminary steps are being completed for Monday night's meeting and plans are underway for action as soon as the group gets the necessary instructions.

'Santa and the Zabbazara Bus'

By LUCRECE BEALE

SYNOPSIS: The travelers get to Zabbazara. The Princess tells them she cannot help them because the Voodoo man has a magic greater than her own.

CHAPTER TWELVE

MR. D's PLAN

The beautiful Princess of Zabbazara had tears in her eyes as she explained to Santa Clause that she did not have the power to break the spell the Voodoo man had cast over Santa Land.

"Oh, my," maoned Mr. D. "To think there'll never be Christmas again! How can he do such a thing?"

"He has a secret power," said the Princess. "He is using it to get rid of all happy spirits and all good fairies. He wants to be king of all Fairyland and not even Zabbazara will escape."

The little boy couldn't stand to see the Princess cry. "Don't worry!" he blurted out. "We will protect you. Won't we Santa? Won't we, Mr. D?"

Santa shook his head helplessly but Mr. D said, "Of course!" He flapped his ears with excitement. "I'm not afraid of that old Voodoo man!"

"You are right not to be afraid of him," said the Princess. "He has no power over real life people. But you can't stop him from casting his spells over fairyland creatures."

"We could find out his secret!" exclaimed the boy.

"Sure," said Mr. D. "I've heard a lot of secrets in my time. Folks like to tell bus drivers their secrets."

All this time Santa had been standing there not saying anything but just thinking and worrying about the awful power of the Voodoo man. Now he said, "We've got to find out what his secret is. Maybe they can do it."

The Princess took the little boy's hands in hers. "Oh, could you?" she cried.

The little boy felt 10 feet tall. "We've GOT to do it!" he said. And Mr. D said, "Come on, boy, let's get back to the bus and find the Voodoo man!"

But, alas! the Voodoo man had already found them!

A crowd of children burst into the palace crying, "Someone's coming! A black-cloaked creature is on his way!"

They rushed out of the palace and down to the edge of the sea. Far away they saw the Voodoo man holding a black balloon. He was just taking off from the distant shore.

"Get back!" cried the Princess to the waiting children. "Go quickly and hide!"

The children looked at her in astonishment. They could not understand why she was so afraid. Nevertheless they did as they were told.

Then Santa said, "We must hide, too."

But the Princess said, "It's no use. He will find us wherever we are. Oh, the poor children! Whatever will become of them?"

Suddenly Mr. D's ears began to wiggle. Whenever he had an idea his ears flapped wildly. He put both hands over his ears to still them and then he burst out:

"Change clothes!"

"WHAT?"

"Change clothes. I'll be Santa Claus and the boy will be the Princess. The Voodoo man's power won't work on us, and you two will be safe!"

"But you don't have whiskers!" protested Santa. "And you're thin. I'm fat!"

"And how can I be a girl?" scoffed the boy. "I dont look anything like a girl!"

But the Princess said, "I still have some power. I can provide wigs and whiskers and such. We must try it. It's our only chance!"

Negro Lawyer Named Relations Service Chief

WASHINGTON (AP) — Roger Wilkins, a young Negro lawyer and nephew of Roy Wilkins, a leading civil rights figure, was named Friday to head the Community Relations Service.

In addition to having a new director, the agency soon is to have a new departmental home, moving from the Commerce Department to the Justice Department — but the emphasis is to remain on interracial conciliation rather than being shifted toward enforcement of civil rights laws.

Some civil rights leaders have criticized the change — which was announced by President Johnson Sept. 14 and will take effect unless Congress disapproves within 60 days after the plan is laid before it in January. They say the service will be hampered by a close association with the prosecutive department.

Johnson took a major step toward appeasing rights leaders by appointing Roger Wilkins, 33, nephew of the executive director of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People.

Wilkins will step into a position officially vacant since last July when LeRoy Collins, former governor of Florida, resigned to become undersecretary of commerce. The appointment requires Senate confirmation.

Calvin Kytle, who has been acting director since Collins left, resigned earlier this week.

In addition to appointing Wilkins, the White House announced Brooks Hays, a former Arkansas congressman, will become associate director of the Community Relations Service. The No. 2 job was upgraded from deputy director to associate director.

According to informed Justice Department sources, Wilkins in his $27,000-a-year job will have status similar to that of the department's eight assistant attorneys general. And it was learned on good authority that the department hopes to increase from 67 to nearly 100 the professional staff of the service, which was created by the 1964 Civil Rights Act. Its task is to head off racial violence through conciliation and mediation.

$4-Million Olin Land Deal Okayed

The Board of Directors of Olin Mathieson Chemical Corporation has approved the purchase of 31,000 acres of timberland from Crystal Oil and Land Company, Shreveport, in a $4-million transaction.

The land is in Bossier and Caddo parishes. Crystal has also granted Olin an option to acquire the undeveloped minerals under this property.

The announcement was made Friday by M. H. Collet, vice president and general manager of Olin's forest products division, which has its headquarters in West Monroe.

Collet said "Olin plans to manage the lands on a sustained yield basis to help supply its sawmills in Winnfield, and Huttig, Ark. Its plywood plant is being completed in Winnfield while its pole and lumber treating plant in Shreveport and its kraft pulp and paper mill in West Monroe" are also being completed.

The Monroe Chamber of Commerce Board of Directors Friday afternoon unanimously endorsed the proposed $15.7 million revenue bond issue for the expansion of city utilities.

A resolution adopted said the board "pledges its assistance toward the passage of this important community-wide improvement project."

The endorsement came after a chamber survey report which stated there was a definite need for improved community-wide lighting.

In an official statement by the chamber's board of director's, a need was stressed for high quality lighting for traffic and pedestrian movement at the Monroe City Plaza.

Other recommendations by the chamber study group called for a program of show window lighting in downtown Monroe after closing hours to encourage activity and window shopping interest, overall street lighting improvements in order to reduce night traffic accidents, well lighted city parks (Forsythe and Bernstein Parks) and updated lighting for major recreation sites to increase night use.

The Monroe Police Department had told the study group there is a definite relationship between breaking and entering rates and the area's lighting details. The report of the police department to the Downtown Modernization Committee of the chamber said, "The Monroe Police Department, indeed, veiws community-wide lighting as our city's cheapest means of promoting and augmenting effective crime detection and precautionary prevention, in conjunction with our established law enforcement agencies."

The Monroe Fire Department also advised that proper lighting helped prevent needless fire damages in unvacated areas at night. When areas are adequately lighted at night, fires can be detected sooner, the commentary from the department stated.

Enrichment School Plan Underway

CROSSETT, Ark. (Special) — The federally - financed curriculum enrichment program for the Crossett public schools has been approved and it is now underway.

Hugh Willis, superintendent, reported that the program will be paid for from some $137,000 allotted to the school district under Title I of the Aid to Education bill passed by the last Congress. The program is under the supervision of Austin White, principal of Crossett High School.

Included in White's report was a budget of expenditures for personnel and equipment needed for the first year as well as a narrative statement justifying why the program is needed and the goals it hopes to acomplish. White's report is as follows:

"Crossett, being an industrial community, probably does not have as great an economic need the average community in Arkansas. However, the very nature of the economy gives a large number of adult workers considerable leisure time. Adults' use of leisure time is reflected in their children's tastes, habits and moves. The "hourly - wage" workers' children, to a large degree, come from homes without daily newspaper, without current magazines, without home libraries, without opportunities to hear and appreciate any music except the current fads on commercial radio and small-cafe music boxes, with no opportunity to concern themselves with things of an asthetic nature. Approximately one-half of the Crossett school district students come from such homes.

"Music and art programs are already in effect in the Norman Junior High and Crossett High Schools, with limited programs in music and art in Daniels High School. Daniels Elementary School has neither art nor music activities in its curriculum; the other elementary schools have music on a limited basis. Fully one-third of the Crossett school students have a great need in this field.

"The Crossett schools have a testing program for measuring achievement in reading and arithmetic. Approximately 20 per cent of our students show a significant lag in these subjects.

"At the present time there is no organized health and physical education program in any of the Crossett Elementary Schools. This means approximately 1600 students are need of this activity.

"Special education (education for the impaired child) is not available in the Daniels Schools at this time. A survey made in the 1964-65 school year showed there were 60 students in these schools with an I.Q. of below 60."

Club Makes Plans

Le Cercle Francais French Club of West Monroe High School made plans for the fifth annual Mardi Gras festival to be held February 19.

Mrs. H. H. Frazier, formerly of France, will be guest speaker at the next meeting.

Gen. Taylor Says Chinese After World

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Gen. Maxwell D. Taylor told an international police group Friday the Chinese Communists were mounting a worldwide subversive assault they believe will be cheap, safe and successful.

The former U. S. Army leader said the job of the police is to make this assault "costly, dangerous and doomed to failure."

Taylor, who retired as chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff to become U. S. ambassador to Viet Nam and then an adviser to President Johnson, spoke before 107 graduates from 21 countries at the State Department's International Police Academy.

The four star general said South Viet Nam was left in a chaotic condition for want of an efficient police system after the overthrow and assassination of President Ngo Dinh Diem in 1963.

Taylor said Diem "has been described as a stern dictator, and I presume that is correct," but he added: "He did appreciate the value of police work."

"Through a system of police nets he was able to control sabotage," Taylor said. "After his overthrow the information networks were broken and police morale sagged for lack of government support. South Viet Nam learned what it was to be without police."

Taylor did not mention Russian subversion. Instead, he outlined a Red Chinese plan to capture the world by first subverting governments in the underdeveloped countries of Latin America, Africa and Asia.

"This technique, which might be called 'subversive aggression' must be taken into account for the future," he said. "We have taken sides and we expect to continue to support our friends."

Most of the graduates were from Latin America, although Pakistan and some other countries also were represented. Since its founding in 1963, the academy has given 16 week courses to 932 police from 39 countries.

HIDES UNDER HIDES

BERRA, Germany (UPI) — 21-year-old East German truck driver escaped to West Germany Friday hidden in a railroad freight car loaded with animal hides, West German border police reported.

French Chef Quits Job At White House

WASHINGTON (UPI) —The French chef brought to the White House by Mrs. John F. Kennedy is quitting amid reports he is feuding with Mrs. Lyndon B. Johnson's choice of a housekeeper for the executive mansion.

The chef, Rene Verdon, came to the White House in 1961. The housekeeper, Mrs. Mary Kaltman, took over as "food coordinator" and housekeeper last October.

Mrs. Elizabeth Carpenter, press secretary to Mrs. Johnson, said Friday that Verdon was resigning effective Jan. 1, for "personal reasons." She would not confirm that he and Mrs. Kaltman were at odds.

Verdon's replacement will be announced after the first of the year, Mrs. Carpenter said.

Mrs. Kaltman formerly served as food coordinator for the Driskill Hotel in Austin, Tex. She was hired to coordinate the White House's three kitchens for "economy reasons," according to Mrs. Carpenter.

Mrs. Kaltman replaced Anne Lincoln, another Kennedy appointee, whose resignation as housekeeper was announced abruptly the day she left the White House.

Verdon became a Kennedy family favorite while he was chef at New York's Caravell restaurant. He was responsible for state dinners at the White House. When the Johnson's moved in, they brought their personal cook, Mrs. Zephyr Wright, to serve them in their quarters.

One Of Four Dies
